Dr. Stuart R. Bell became the 29th president of The University of Alabama on June 18, 2015. Currently in his seventh year of leading the University, Dr. Bell previously served the Capstone for 16 years as a faculty member and then department head of mechanical engineering.

Under his leadership, the University developed and implemented a strategic plan, Advancing the Flagship, which promotes institutional progress with scholarship and teaching, research and creative activity, inclusion and diversity and the recruitment and retention of highly qualified faculty and staff. Since the plan's launch, UA has seen an increase in both student retention and graduation rates; has increased faculty headcount to support the University's instruction, research and service goals; has witnessed the growth of sponsored program awards crucial to direct learning and experience opportunities for students; and has benefited from three consecutive historic fundraising years. New interdisciplinary research centers have also been established and join many other programs on campus focused on solving critical, real-world challenges.

Prior to becoming UA's president, Dr. Bell was executive vice president and provost at Louisiana State University and served as both the chief academic officer and the chief operating officer. Before his time at LSU, Dr. Bell served the University of Kansas as dean of the School of Engineering.

With research concentrations in combustion engines, Dr. Bell has expertise in fuels for engines, innovative engine designs and modeling of engine and engine processes. He founded and directed UA's Center for Advanced Vehicle Technologies, an interdisciplinary research center producing new generations of engineers and scientists. Dr. Bell was also inducted as an Engineering Department Fellow by UA's department of mechanical engineering. He was awarded the Society of Automotive Engineer's Ralph Teetor Award for Outstanding Contributions to Research and Teaching and the T. Morris Hackney Faculty Leadership Award for the College of Engineering.

Dr. Bell was also honored with the Richard S. Woodbury Award from the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, was selected as a recipient of the Dwight Look College of Engineering Outstanding Alumni Award from Texas A&M University and was elected to the Academy of Distinguished Alumni in Mechanical Engineering at his alma mater. He also recently joined the 2021-2022 SEC Executive Committee

An Abilene, Texas native, Dr. Bell earned a degree in nuclear engineering from Texas A&M in 1979. He earned his master's and doctoral degrees in mechanical engineering from the same university in 1981 and 1986, respectively.

It was also at Texas A&M that Dr. Bell met his wife, Susan. They are the proud parents of three adult children, Stuart, Stacy and Stephen and three delightful granddaughters and a grandson. Both of Dr. Bell's sons followed in his footsteps and are engineers. His daughter Stacy is a UA alumna.

ON CAMPUS

The University of Alabama knows a thing or two about legends.

Legends have been made in our academic halls, on our athletic fields and courts, and through our endeavors to shape a better world through our teaching, research and service.

UA legends earn prestigious honors, such as Pulitzer Prizes, Emmy Awards, Heisman Trophies and Medals of Honor. They wear titles like inventor, entrepreneur, best-selling author, pioneer, CEO, founder and national champion.

Here are just a few of our legends:

Best-selling authors: Harper Lee, "To Kill a Mockingbird"; Winston Groom, "Forrest Gump"; Kathryn Stockett, "The Help"; Mark Childress, "Crazy in Alabama"; and T.S. Stribling, "The Store."

CEO/Chairman of the Board/Executive Chairman/President/Senior Vice President/COO/Senior Director: Marillyn Hewson, Lockheed Martin (retired); W.W. Clements, Dr Pepper Company (retired); Sam DiPiazza, Mayo Clinic; Thom Rainer, Lifeway Christian Resources (retired); Vicki Hollub, Occidental Petroleum; Marie Robinson, Sysco Corporation; Nan Boden, Google.

Science: Dr. Edward O. Wilson, biologist, researcher and two-time Pulitzer Prize-winning author; Robert Jemison Van de Graaff, scientist and inventor.

Film and Television: Chuck Gordon, producer of "Die Hard" movies and "Field of Dreams"; Sela Ward, television and film actress; Joe Scarborough, talk show host; Sonequa Martin-Green, actress; Jim Nabors, actor; Tom Cheronos, director of "Seinfeld"; Rece Davis, sports television journalist; Michael Luwoye, Broadway actor.

Journalism: Howell Raines, Pulitzer winner at The New York Times; John Cochran, prize-winning television journalist; Rece Davis, ESPN journalist.

It matters where you go to college. The University of Alabama is a leader among public universities in the enrollment of National Merit Scholars. The Fulbright Student Program recognizes UA as a top producer of Fulbright recipients. And for more than a decade, UA has ranked among the top six institutions for Goldwater Scholars.

GREG BYRNE

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

With more than 25 years of experience in sports administration, Alabama Director of Athletics Greg Byrne has built an impressive career highlighted by consistent competitive success, innovative strategies, vigorous fundraising and a strong emphasis on academic excellence and student-athlete enhancement.

Named Alabama's 17th Director of Athletics on January 17, 2017, he made an immediate impact on the Crimson Tide, developing and implementing both The Standard, a strategic plan outlining the mission statement and core values of Alabama Athletics, and The Crimson Standard, a 10-year, $600 million capital initiative focused on the renovation of facilities and development of infrastructure.

Additionally, The Standard provides benchmarks in the areas of academics, student-athlete welfare, athletics success, financial resources, facilities, staffing and operating with integrity, while The Crimson Standard is designed to provide the foundation for future success in all aspects of the collegiate experience.

Under Byrne's leadership, the Crimson Tide has:

- Posted its highest finish in program history in the Learfield IMG College Directors' Cup at the conclusion of the 2020-21 season, placing seventh, as well as its second-highest finish at 14th following the 2017-18 season
- Added high-impact coaches Nate Oats (men's basketball), Brad Bohannon (baseball), Rashinda Reed (volleyball), Glenn Putyrae (rowing) and Margo Geer (men's and women's swimming & diving) to the Tide's lineup, all five of which made immediate impacts in lifting their respective programs up the national ladder
- Won the 2021 and 2018 College Football Playoff National Championship, earned a place in the CFP Championship Game in 2018, 2019 and 2021 and collected Southeastern Conference titles in football (2017, 2020, 2021), men's basketball (2021), gymnastics (2021), softball (2019, 2021) and men's indoor track & field (2018)
- Brought home individual and relay national titles in cross country, gymnastics, swimming & diving and track & field and produced more than 100 All-Americans in 12 different sports
- Earned over 50 CoSIDA Academic All-America certificates as well as some of the nation's top academic honors, including the NCAA Top 10 Award, the NCAA Elite 90 Award, CoSIDA Academic All-America of the Year, NCAA and SEC Postgraduate Scholarships
- Earned the H. Boyd McWhorter Male SEC Scholar-Athlete of the Year in 2017 and produced 15 SEC Scholar-Athletes of the Year in 10 different sports, including a conference-record eight during the 2019-20 academic year

Another hallmark of Byrne's career has been both building and enhancing facilities to championship levels. In his first four years at Alabama, the Tide:

- Raised more than $300 million toward The Crimson Standard capital campaign, with over half of the 10-year goal completed in a little over two years

- Added a state-of-the-art, first-of-its-kind Sports Science Center featuring advanced treatment services and technology with spaces dedicated to cryotherapy, chiropractic care, stretch, massage, relaxation, recovery and mental health services
- Improved and renovated Bryant-Denny Stadium, including enhancements to all team and recruiting areas, renovations of multiple fan areas, including new Loge and sky boxes and a trio of club areas and an added student plaza
- Renovated and expanded the football team locker room, training room, equipment room and lobby within the Mal M. Moore Athletic Facility
- Added and renovated multiple areas of the John and Ann Rhoads Softball Stadium, with upgrades to the press box and clubhouse, the addition of a new umpire locker room, new restrooms and a new concessions building, as well as new hardscape for the plaza and entryway along first base
- Revitalized the Alabama Aquatic Center with a renovation that included the addition of an outdoor pool

In addition to his role as Director of Athletics, Byrne serves on several committees at both the conference and national levels including:

- United States Olympic & Paralympic Committee Collegiate Advisory Council
- Division I Men's Basketball Committee
- National Coalition of Minority Football Coaches Coalition Academy
- Served as president of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics in 2020

The son of Bill Byrne, whose long and highly successful career included 30 years as an athletics director, Greg Byrne has spent a lifetime around major college athletics. That background has allowed the younger Byrne to consistently develop and grow as a dynamic and impactful administrator with each new role he has undertaken, with career highlights prior to Alabama that include:

- Serving as the University of Arizona's Vice President for Athletics (2010-17) and Mississippi State University's Director of Athletics (2008-10), making Alabama the third NCAA Division I program he has led
- Fostering major improvements across the spectrum of sports at both Arizona and MSU, raising the bar to new heights when it came to student-athlete enhancement and academic success in preparation for life after sports
- More than $140 million in construction and renovation of athletics facilities at Arizona
- Serving as the youngest athletics director in the SEC and the youngest to lead an athletic program at the NCAA Division I-A level while at Mississippi State where he oversaw the hiring of head football coach Dan Mullen and former head baseball coach and current Director of Athletics John Cohen
- Experience in the Southeastern Conference, having spent 2002-05 at the University of Kentucky as Associate Athletics Director for Development and Fundraising prior to serving as Associate Athletics Director for External Affairs at MSU from 2006-08 before becoming the Bulldogs' Director of Athletics
- Working at the Fiesta Bowl (1994-95), Oregon (1995-98) and Oregon State (1998-2002)

A native of Pocatello, Idaho, Byrne earned his bachelor's degree from Arizona State University in 1994 and his master's degree from Mississippi State University in 2009. Byrne is married to the former Regina Misa of Junction City, Ore., and the couple has two sons, Nick and Davis.

A VERY CROWDED HOUSE

For Alabama gymnasts, competing at home is electrifying. Marching into Coleman Coliseum, hearing their names called one by one as 13,000-plus fans roar their approval – it is an experience like no other.

“There’s nothing like competing in Coleman Coliseum,” head coach Dana Duckworth said. “The experience is absolutely exhilarating and it brings out the very best in our ladies.”

If anyone knows the kind of boost that the atmosphere surrounding an Alabama home meet can provide, it is Duckworth. As a gymnast, she helped Alabama win its second NCAA Championship in Coleman Coliseum in 1991 and as a coach, she has been on the floor for some of the biggest and most fan-packed meets in Alabama history.

“Our fans are simply amazing,” Duckworth said. “They are without a doubt our biggest and baddest competitive advantage.”

The Tide averaged 10,382 fans during the 2020 season, marking the 17th year in a row that the Tide has averaged more than 10,000 fans per meet – a stretch that includes a school- and SEC-record 13,786 fans per meet in 2010. In 2006, Alabama set a school and Southeastern Conference single-meet record of 15,162.

In 2021, due to Covid-19, attendance in Coleman Coliseum was limited to 2,055 per meet, a total that the Crimson Tide met for all four home meets.

ALABAMA GYMNASTICS NOTEWORTHY ATTENDANCE AND SOLD-OUT CROWDS

- Crimson Tide gymnastics maxed out its Covid-19 attendance limit of 2,055 for all four home meets in 2021.
- Prior to the Covid-19 attendance limitations in 2021, the Crimson Tide ranked among the top-5 women's collegiate programs in terms of average attendance for 14 years in a row.
- Alabama drew 10,382 fans per meet to rank third in the Southeastern Conference among all women's programs and fifth nationally during the 2019-20 academic year.
- The Tide's 2020 average puts it in rare company. Alabama gymnastics, South Carolina basketball, Utah gymnastics, Oregon basketball and LSU gymnastics were the only collegiate women's programs to average more than 10,000 fans per home contest in 2019-20.
- Following the 2020 season, Alabama had drawn more than 10,000 fans in 38 of its 42 home meets, dating back to March 2012.
- Alabama has averaged over 12,000 fans per meet in 10 different seasons since 2006.
- Alabama gymnastics averaged more than 11,000 fans per home meet for 10 years in a row from 2010-19.
- Alabama has drawn crowds of 10,000-plus 84 times since first breaking the 10,000 barrier on March 4, 1995, when 12,021 fans flooded Coleman Coliseum for a meet against Georgia.
- Only two schools in collegiate history - Alabama and Utah - have produced gymnastics crowds of 15,000-plus, with Alabama producing nine such crowds over the past 20 years.

- The Crimson Tide also holds the 25 largest single-meet attendance marks in SEC history.
- When the Crimson Tide hosted the 2016 NCAA Gymnastics Regional, Alabama drew 10,116 fans, more than 2,000 fans better than the next closest regional that year.
- Alabama sold out Coleman Coliseum for the 11th time in school history and for the 10th time since 2006 on Jan. 24, 2014, against Arkansas.
- The Crimson Tide made history in 2008 when it became the first school in gymnastics history to draw two crowds of over 15,000 fans in a single season.
- Alabama set the school and Southeastern Conference single-season attendance record of 13,786 fans per meet in 2010.
- The Tide drew a school and SEC record 15,162 fans for its Jan. 20, 2006, meet against Florida.

ALABAMA GYMNASTICS FACILITIES

Whether for practice, for competition or for the time in between, the Alabama gymnastics program utilizes some of the finest athletics facilities in the nation and those facilities continue to get better all the time.

THE FRANCES SMITH PRACTICE FACILITY

Long one of the most well-designed and spacious training gyms in the nation, the Frances Smith Gymnastics Practice Facility continues to give the Crimson Tide everything it needs to train at the highest level.

"Our facilities – from our practice gym and arena to the state-of-the-art training and academic centers – are second to none," head coach Dana Duckworth said. "They allow us to train at a championship level every day."

The practice gym includes reminders of the Crimson Tide's rich championship heritage, highlighted by larger-than-life murals of the Tide's 2012 NCAA Championship team and the 2021 Southeastern Conference championship team, as well as several Alabama legends. The hallway that leads from the gym also features seven images that are highlighted by words that define Crimson Tide gymnastics tradition of excellence.

"When our ladies walk down the hallway and into the gym, they are reminded all the time of the ideals that built this program into what it is today – tradition, family, excellence, heart, service, champions and leadership," Duckworth said. "You can't help but be inspired to do your best to uphold that tradition of excellence and legacy of champions."

The Tide's team suite also received upgrades during the summer of 2021, upgrading the performance fuel center, team room and training room area. In addition to the nutrition center, the team suite also includes hot and cold therapy tubs in the training room, which have been extremely beneficial in terms of preparation and recovery when it comes to both practice and competition, as well as a massage therapy and treatment room.

All aspects of the complex come together in a marriage of form and function that gives Alabama a training edge. Countless hours went into designing the 12,500 square-foot gym, creating a facility that is both beautiful and designed to minimize and alleviate the impact of training on the gymnasts' bodies at the same time. Multiple soft-landing pits are available for all four apparatuses, giving the Tide the freedom to train skills in enhanced safety. That setup also gives Alabama the capability of teaching a variety of skills at the same time.

The main practice area includes an in-ground trampoline and tumbling strips. The sound system that drives the Tide's practices surrounds the floor exercise area with the same level of sound

Alabama will encounter in a meet setting.

The practice gym also includes a state-of-the-art video analysis system that has playback and analysis options on each event, including a pair of 72-inch display screens that are in use every day in practice, allowing the coaches to provide instant feedback on a routine. The system also helps compress the time it takes to make a change to a skill or routine, allowing the gymnasts to get more out of each practice.

There are four uneven bars stations, six balance beams, two vaults and an oversized floor in place. The Tide also utilizes a tumble track, rod floor and a tumbling strip that finishes into a foam pit.

The Tide's separate 2,000 square-foot strength and conditioning/dance studio, connected to the main practice area, which includes cardio equipment, was given a significant upgrade during the summer of 2021. Prior to the 2016 season, Alabama added a Pilates studio to its training suite. It contains top of the line Pilates equipment and is designed to help the Crimson Tide be at its very best. The Pilates studio was funded by The Medalist Club.

In 2020 the Crimson Tide increased the area within the practice gym dedicated to athletics training as well as a dedicated rehab and recovery space.

"I love the fact that our ladies have everything they need all in one place for both practice and meets," Duckworth said.

COLEMAN COLISEUM

There are few atmospheres in collegiate athletics better than a gymnastics Friday night in Coleman Coliseum – from the roar of the crowd when Alabama marches in through the last routine. That atmosphere has only improved over the past several years, following major upgrades to the main arena of Coleman Coliseum aimed at enhancing the meet-day atmosphere. These amenities feature an array of state-of-the-art video boards, including a center-hung display that features four massive, high-definition video panels flanked by two video rings. The center display is accompanied by a pair of video and stat displays on each end of the facility. Coleman Coliseum saw its greatest transformation prior to the 2006 season, when the entire facility was updated in grand fashion. Behind a bold modernized facade, the interior lobbies and concourses were expanded and upgraded. In the main seating area, 15,000-plus seats, all theater style, welcome gymnastics crowds along with a 6,400 square-foot club area along the east side of the arena. All these amenities enhance Coleman Coliseum's reputation as one of the best places in the nation to watch gymnastics. Since the gymnastics team began competing in the Coliseum in the late 1980s, Alabama has hosted some of the biggest gymnastics meets in the country, including the 1991, 1996 and 2002 NCAA championships and the 1988, 1993 and 1999 SEC Championships. The Tide hosted its 16th NCAA Regional Championship in the spring of 2021.

The Coliseum also houses the gymnastics coaches' office suite, which was renovated during the summer of 2012 to highlight a championship legacy that includes six national championships and 10 SEC titles as well as countless individual accolades. In addition to the coaches and staff offices, the suite includes a conference room and a workroom.

The overall renovation to the Tide's athletic facilities, which entailed a more than $200 million capital building campaign, also included a new strength and conditioning center and an athletic training center that is among the nation's very best. Both facilities are located in the Mal Moore Athletic Facility, adjacent to Coleman Coliseum.

Another aspect of the athletics department's building campaign over the past decade that has paid huge dividends is the Bill Battle Academic Center at Paul W. Bryant Hall, one of the finest academic centers in the nation, which opened in 2005 (for more on Bryant Hall, see page 16).

The Crimson Tide also added a new performance nutrition center prior to the 2018-19 academic year.

The building is complete with serving areas on two levels, 10 action stations, a grab-and-go fuel center, a smoothie bar and more than 50 HD televisions. There are also two outdoor patio dining areas and a private dining space housed on the upper level for meetings, nutrition education and cooking demonstrations. In addition to Rainey Gerald, who works with the gymnastics program on a daily basis, the performance nutrition staff includes director Amy Bragg as well as four registered dietitians, five performance chefs and over 20 assistants (for more on Alabama Athletics performance nutrition program, see page 30).

CRIMSON TIDE GYMNASTICS FACILITIES

CLASSROOM SUCCESS

The University of Alabama is one of the nation's top scholastic institutions and the Crimson Tide gymnastics program is among those leading the charge of academic excellence, earning countless honors and continually producing outstanding results in the classroom.

The Tide's tremendous success is in direct correlation to the level of importance the coaching staff puts on academics. Priority number one at Alabama is a great education that will catapult Tide gymnasts into exciting futures.

"There is no doubt that when it comes to Crimson Tide gymnastics, academics is priority one," head coach Dana Duckworth said. "I'm a living example of what an Alabama education can do for you. That's why we want every gymnast to leave the Capstone with a championship ring on one hand and a diploma in the other, confident in the knowledge that an Alabama education will take you anywhere you want to go."

The emphasis the coaching staff puts on academics has paid huge dividends. On its way to winning back-to-back NCAA championships in 2011 and 2012, Alabama posted two of its highest team grade point averages in program history, a team-record 3.71 in 2011 and a 3.55 in 2012. Over that two-year span, Alabama gymnasts earned 27 Scholastic All-America honors while every member of the team posted over a 3.1 GPA.

The Tide's academic prowess is nothing new. Alabama gymnasts have earned 21 NCAA and 13 Southeastern Conference postgraduate scholarships since 1983, with both totals leading all gymnastics programs on the national and conference levels.

Additionally, three Alabama gymnasts — Julie Estin, Meredith Willard and Kristin Sterner — were all named the H. Boyd McWhorter Scholar Athlete of the Year, the SEC's most coveted academic honor. The McWhorter is bestowed on the conference's top senior student-athlete, regardless of sport, and carries with it a $15,000 scholarship that can be applied to the graduate program of the recipient's choice. The Crimson Tide has also earned SEC Gymnastics Scholar-Athlete of the Year honors a league-best seven times since the award began in 2003, including Shea Mahoney in 2020.

While the Tide has a sparkling reputation in the academic arena, it is not just a case of letting a squad of naturally gifted athletes loose in the classroom.

"The success our ladies have enjoyed academically has been predicated on the same drive and dedication that makes them successful in the gym," Duckworth said. "I'm proud of the fact that our gymnasts combine the amazing resources the University and athletics department puts at their disposal with a tremendous amount of hard work to excel to the best of their abilities."

In fact, some of Alabama's greatest success stories involve student-athletes that came in as at-risk students. Through a combination of their own hard work, unflagging support from the coaching staff and the resources Alabama puts at their disposal, they were able to graduate. They then went on to careers that might not have been possible without the education they received at the Capstone.

Once a prospective student-athlete signs, it is up to her how successful she is academically. But because of Alabama's Bill Battle Academic Center (BBAC) and the commitment of its coaches, every opportunity for success is there for the taking.

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE

Alabama gymnastics' academic excellence has maintained an impressive stride over the past 40 years, providing some truly awe-inspiring results.

- Alabama gymnasts have been voted the SEC Gymnastics Scholar-Athlete of the Year a league-best seven times in the 17-year history of the award, including Shea Mahoney (2020), Lauren Beers (2016), Kim Jacob (2012, 2013 and 2014), Kayla Hoffman (2011) and Michelle Reeser (2005).
- Alabama gymnasts tallied 14 Women's Collegiate Gymnastics Association (WCGA) Scholastic All-America honors in 2021.
- With 14 Scholastic All-America honors in 2021, the Crimson Tide boosted its all-time total to 305 since the award's inception in 1991, giving Alabama an average of more than a dozen honors a year over the past 19 years.
- The Tide's 2021 Scholastic All-Americans included: Shania Adams, Luisa Blanco, Ella Burgess, Makarri Doggette, Sarah Duhe, Jencie Givens, Lexi Graber, Griffin James, Bailie Key, Alonza Klopfer, Cameron Machado, Isabella Martin, Shallon Olsen and Mati Waligora.
- The Tide's 14 Scholastic All-Americans is the fourth-highest total in school history, behind a school-record 19 in 2017 and 16 in 2019.
- A total of 43 gymnasts have earned 103 Scholastic All-America honors since Dana Duckworth became the Crimson Tide's head coach prior to the 2015 season.
- Alabama finished the 2020-21 season with a 3.61 team grade point average, marking the 16th year in a row that Crimson Tide gymnastics has posted a team GPA of 3.4 or better.
- Heading into the 2022 season all 16 gymnasts carry a 3.3 or better career grade point average, including 13 that have a 3.5 or better GPA and 11 that earned better than a 3.7.
- Mackenzie Brannan earned Alabama gymnastics' 21st NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship in 2018, giving the Tide the most of any gymnastics program in the nation.
- Of the 34 collegiate gymnasts who earned NCAA Postgraduate Scholarships between 2011-19, nine are from Alabama. No other gymnastics program had more than four over that span.
- Mackenzie Brannan earned CoSIDA Academic All-America honors for the third time in her career in 2018, giving Alabama 23 Academic All-America honors in all.
- Alabama gymnasts have earned a place on the SEC Academic Honor Roll a league-best 392 times since the award was first given out in 1984, nearly 100 more than the next closest gymnastics squad.

THE BILL BATTLE ACADEMIC CENTER

The Bill Battle Academic Center (BBAC) is a mainstay of The University of Alabama's academic success.

The Crimson Tide's academic home, the Bill Battle Academic Center at Paul W. Bryant Hall, is the crown jewel in Alabama's $125-plus million Crimson Tradition building initiative. The center was named for Bill Battle several years before his being named as the Crimson Tide's Director of Athletics in the spring of 2013.

"Academic success is the lifeblood of what we do here at The University of Alabama, and our academic center is second to none in providing our student-athletes with the tools they need to obtain that success," Battle, who retired as Alabama's Director of Athletics in 2017, said. "I couldn't be prouder to have my name associated with those efforts."

Through the auspices of the Crimson Tradition Fund, Alabama took its former athletic dorm and converted it into a state-of-the-art facility that benefits all 500-plus Crimson Tide student-athletes.

"The Bill Battle Academic Center is an incredible facility for our student-athletes," Brittany Price, the Assistant Athletics Director for Athletic Academic Programs and the gymnastics academic advisor said. "We provide the resources to help them be better students and be successful in the classroom, as well as preparing them to be successful in life after athletics."

The BBAC demonstrates a high level of commitment to academics by The University of Alabama and its athletics department. With over 52,000 square feet, a student-athlete can meet with their advisor, work with a tutor, attend their orientation class, use the math or computer labs, and visit the Career and Leadership Development Center – all within Bryant Hall – which is a tremendous asset for them and their busy schedules.

Among the building's many amenities is a 48-seat computer lab with up-to-date equipment and software, a math lab and individual study rooms. The athletic academic advisor offices are also housed in the building, along with two 50-seat classrooms, a 140-seat classroom, a study lounge and the Susan and Gaylon McCollough A-Club Career and Leadership Development Center.

The classrooms utilize cutting-edge teaching devices, including digital overhead projectors, and throughout the building there are information stations that provide student-athletes with news. The building also houses the Tide's Academic Hall of Fame honoring Academic All Americans and recipients of the Paul W. Bryant Student-Athlete Award.

BBAC is headed by Associate Athletics Director for Student Services Molly Dowd. In addition to Price, Dowd is assisted by Assistant Athletics Director for Student-Athlete Enhancement Joe Suiter as well as Heather Anders, Jenny Sanders, Stephanie Godfrey, Lisa Hart, Mary Maruggi, Joy Burroughs, Shelby Spano, Jennifer Knauf, Sarah Kizzire, Chelsea Mayers, Emily Roberts, Shanice Smith, Robert Imbody, Gabby Little and Cynthia Springer. The staff also includes more than 90 part-time tutors.

The BBAC staff works as a liaison between the athletics department, undergraduate and graduate divisions, and the administrative offices of the University. The staff assists with class scheduling and registration, makes sure all athletes are maintaining satisfactory progress toward their degrees, monitors academic eligibility, secures tutors and schedules study sessions, and provides career counseling and leadership development.

BRITTANY PRICE

ACADEMICS Gymnastics Advisor

Assistant Athletics Director

Brittany Price joined the Crimson Tide family in 2015 and currently serves as assistant athletics director for academic programs.

As a member of the Alabama Athletics academics leadership team, Price serves as the direct supervisor of academic programming unit. Her duties include overseeing and leading the comprehensive tutorial and support unit within the Bill Battle Academic Center while also developing comprehensive academic support guidelines.

Price is a valuable member of the Alabama gymnastics program where she serves as the academic advisor while providing student-athlete support and programming. Additionally, she works with men's basketball and handles the department's policy development regarding support and the student-athlete handbook, among other duties.

Before being promoted to her current position, Price was the director of athletics academic programs and worked directly as the academic advisor for volleyball among other teams.

Prior to Alabama, Price was an assistant director for academic support services at Georgia State University from 2012-15, serving as the main point-of-contact for the football and men's basketball programs. She was also the campus and compliance liaison and oversaw the day-to-day operations of her department.

A 2010 graduate of Arkansas, Price began her professional career as an athletic academic support assistant (2009-10) and worked with the full-time staff in tracking student-athletes' academic progress and eligibility.

Following graduation, Price spent two years (2010-12) at Wichita State University where she earned her master's of education in 2012. At Wichita State, Price worked as the academic advisor for track & field and women's tennis, as well as coordinating all student-athlete development programming.

Price is a member of the National Association of Academic Advisors of Athletics (N4A) and Women's Leaders.

ALABAMA GYMNASTICS: SEVEN NCAA ELITE 90 AWARDS IN A ROW

In 2016, Lauren Beers became the first gymnast to win back-to-back-to-back NCAA Elite 90 Awards. She earned the Crimson Tide's seventh Elite 90 trophy with a perfect 4.0 grade point average in exercise science. From the left, Alabama head coach Dana Duckworth, Lauren Beers and former assistant director of athletic student services Fern Hampton.

Instituted prior to the 2010 season, the NCAA Elite 90 Award recognizes the student-athlete with the highest cumulative grade point average who has reached the competition at the finals site for each of the NCAA's 90 championships across its three divisions.

With a perfect 4.0 GPA for her career, Lauren Beers became the first gymnast to earn back-to-back-to-back Elite 90 Awards when her name was called for the prestigious honor during the 2016 NCAA Championship Banquet in Fort Worth, Texas. She is the fourth UA gymnast to earn the award overall and she kept the Crimson Tide's streak a perfect seven-for-seven with her third win.

"We are so very proud of Lauren and ecstatic for our program to be able to continue to earn this amazing honor," Alabama head coach Dana Duckworth said. "Our ladies put a tremendous amount of hard work and dedication into their academic pursuits and this is a shining example of what can happen when your standard is excellence."

One of the most prestigious academic honors bestowed upon a collegiate student-athlete, Alabama gymnastics has dominated the Elite 90 like no other program. Throughout all the sports and NCAA divisions covered by the honor, Alabama gymnastics is the only program to win the award in each of its first seven years in existence.

"We are proud to have earned all seven of these awards," Duckworth said after Beers' third win. "We have tremendous gratitude for Jon Dever, Fern Hampton and the entire staff at the Bill Battle Academic Center for their daily commitment to supporting our student athletes academically. I also want to thank our administration for providing the tools that allow our women to be the best version of themselves in every area of their life. We are truly fortunate."

All-American Kassi Price earned the inaugural award in 2010 with a perfect 4.0 GPA of her own. She was followed by All-American Rachel Terry who won back-to-back trophies in 2011 and 2012, coinciding with the Tide's latest NCAA Championships. All-American Kim Jacob kept the streak alive when she earned the honor in 2013.

Heading into the 2020 season, UA gymnasts have won the honor seven of its 10 years. Across all sports, the Tide is just behind Stanford for the NCAA lead in Elite 90 honors with 16 in the award's first 10 years.

Kim Jacob earned the Crimson Tide's fourth NCAA Elite 90 Award trophy in 2013.

Rachel Terry became the first gymnast to win two NCAA Elite 90 Awards in a career in 2012.

Rachel Terry won the Crimson Tide's second NCAA Elite 90 Award in 2011.

Kassi Price earned the inaugural NCAA Elite 90 Award in 2010.

NCAA AND SEC POSTGRADUATE SCHOLARSHIP WINNERS

One of the most coveted and prestigious national honors available to collegiate athletes, the NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship is awarded to athletes in their final year of competition who have performed with distinction both athletically and academically.

Alabama gymnastics has produced 21 NCAA postgraduate scholarships since Julie Garrett earned the first in 1983, the most of any program in the nation. That total includes Ashley Sledge, who earned two NCAA postgraduate scholarships (the standard and the Ethnic Minority and Women's Enhancement Scholarship), giving Alabama 20 gymnasts with 21 scholarships.

In addition to the NCAA honors, Alabama gymnasts have earned 12 Southeastern Conference Postgraduate Scholarships. Alabama's SEC scholarship total also leads all gymnastics programs.

All told, 22 Alabama gymnasts have earned either NCAA or SEC postgraduate scholarships, with half of those earning both.

LENDING A HELPING HAND

As much as winning championships and excelling in the classroom, working to make the world around them a better place is one of the primary hallmarks of the Alabama gymnastics program.

"We are known for excellence athletically and academically," head coach Dana Duckworth said. "But being a part of the Alabama gymnastics family also means giving of yourself to other people, lending a helping hand where it is needed and being an engaged citizen in the community."

Alabama gymnasts are busy throughout the community, especially when it comes to ReadBAMARead, The Power of Pink and working with The RISE School. Through its annual Elevate the Stage meet, the Crimson Tide helps champion Smile-A-Mile, an organization that supports children with cancer. Tide gymnasts also speak to local school children about staying away from drugs and alcohol, raise funds for Project Angel Tree, paint faces and help kids with their somersaults during the Tide's annual Halloween Extravaganza and help raise awareness for the fight against breast cancer with the Power of Pink meet.

Lauren Beers was named the SEC Community Service Leader of the Year in 2016, an award that spans all sports and schools in the SEC. Andréé Pickens won the same award in 2002 just weeks after leading the Crimson Tide to the NCAA Championship, proving that there is always time to give back.

In addition to team projects, each gymnast finds her own way to make a difference, from working in soup kitchens to visiting the elderly at assisted living facilities, and nearly every gymnast has encouraged school children through various speaking engagements.

DAVID DESANTIS COMMUNITY SERVICE AWARD

The David DeSantis Community Service Award, which was first awarded in 2009, is named for the local philanthropist. DeSantis was an integral part in the Crimson Tide's Power of Pink initiative from its inception, helping raise more than $2 million for the DCH Breast Cancer Fund through the annual Tuscaloosa Toyota/DCH Foundation Golf Classic and Nite on the Green events. He and Tuscaloosa Toyota also lent a generous hand to head coach Dana Duckworth's ReadBAMARead Foundation, combining with Toyota Motor Sales USA to contribute more than $20,000 to the foundation.

READBAMAREAD

Fall is always a very busy and highly productive time for Alabama gymnastics head coach Dana Duckworth. In August, the members of the Crimson Tide return to campus and work continues on the new season.

The fall of 2018 also saw Duckworth's ReadBAMAREad philanthropy undertake a new and significant project in support of literacy in the West Alabama community.

In October, the ReadBAMAREad Foundation presented a donation of $25,000 worth of books to the Tuscaloosa City Board of Education's "Strong Libraries Strong Schools" campaign in support of school libraries.

"Libraries and their mission are at the heart of ReadBAMAREad," Duckworth said. "We are so excited to have this opportunity to continue to impact literacy and public-school libraries in the Tuscaloosa community, and we completely and enthusiastically support the 'Strong Libraries Strong Schools' initiative."

The RBR non-profit charity, cofounded by Duckworth and Donna Benjamin, has an ongoing mission to enhance childhood literacy.

"When we first heard of the school board's goal to raise Tuscaloosa libraries to meet the 'exemplary' standard, it really spoke to us and our underlying principles," Benjamin said. "It's something we had to be a part of."

Duckworth, Benjamin and other members of the RBR Board of Directors presented the donations to the librarians of the Tuscaloosa City School Systems' five middle schools at the Alberta School of Performing Arts.

"We are thrilled that ReadBAMAREad is partnering with the Tuscaloosa City Schools to make sure we have exemplary libraries in all TCS schools for all students," Dr. Mike Daria, Superintendent for the Tuscaloosa City Schools, said.

Each school received a $5,000 "Book Spree" at the Tuscaloosa Barnes & Noble for their libraries in November, when the school's media specialists picked out titles for their respective libraries.

"It's amazing for this group of professionals, who work in our schools every day to promote a love of reading and to do it so well, to be affirmed and supported in that work," Daria said following the Book Spree. "Events like today, and the work being done by ReadBAMAREad and Barnes & Noble in this effort, shows what can happen when a whole bunch of good people get together with a common cause."

In its earliest days, RBR took an active role in restocking the three elementary school libraries that were destroyed by the tornadoes that ripped through West Alabama in April 2011. Duckworth and Benjamin quickly put together the foundation to help raise money to stock the libraries once they were rebuilt.

ReadBAMAREad took off immediately.

"I've always believed that reading is fundamental to all learning, and I knew immediately that this was something that could make a real difference in our community and that it would be embraced by our community," Duckworth said.

With wide-spread support from the community and local philanthropists like David DeSantis and Tuscaloosa Toyota, along with partnerships with The Color Run and the Tuscaloosa Half Marathon, ReadBAMAREad met its initial goal of raising enough money for 10,000 bound, library-quality books – at a cost of approximately $150,000 – for the rebuilt schools in June 2014.

With the launch of "Strong Libraries Strong Schools," ReadBAMAREad embraced the opportunity to help directly support its initial mission to augment and revitalize Tuscaloosa school libraries.

"Reading is a fundamental skill, and we have an entire community supporting our focus on each child of the Tuscaloosa community," Daria said. "Thanks to Coach Duckworth, Donna and RBR for supporting our efforts to make sure all TCS children are reading at high levels."

ReadBAMAREad continues to support school libraries throughout the West Alabama community. To that end, RBR is slated to donate books to local school libraries during every home gymnastics meet during the 2022 season.

The mission of ReadBAMAREad falls in line with the ideal of Alabama gymnastics.

"As student-athletes, our ladies strive every day to be the best that you can be," Duckworth said. "And through ReadBAMAREad, we are helping children strive for that same ideal and I couldn't be prouder of that fact."

THE POWER OF PINK

Pink shakers, pink shirts, even the occasional pink boa – once a season, everyone puts on their best pink outfits, grabs their favorite pink accessories and heads to Coleman Coliseum for a gymnastics meet. The pink isn't as much a fashion statement, but a show of support for former Alabama gymnastics head coach Sarah Patterson's Power of Pink initiative.

It started with a simple idea and grew into one of Patterson's greatest triumphs. She wanted to help raise awareness for the fight against breast cancer, a disease that has touched the lives of so many women around the world.

"I am very lucky," Patterson said. "Not only to be healthy, but also that I have access to excellent medical care. Not everyone is so fortunate, and I wanted to do something that would help those who need it most."

So she picked Alabama vs. Auburn on Feb. 4, 2005, and designated it as the "Drive 4 the Cause" meet. She asked everyone to mark the date and to "Think Pink, Wear Pink."

They did and in droves with the first Power of Pink meet drawing 13,299 fans and a legion of support.

That singular idea and that first meet blossomed into a staggering phenomenon and on Friday, Feb. 11, 2022, Alabama will host its 18th Power of Pink meet, welcoming the Georgia Bulldogs to Coleman Coliseum while resplendent in pink.

Over the past 17 years nearly 250,000 fans have filled Coleman Coliseum with pink for the annual event, including an Alabama and Southeastern Conference record 15,162 fans in 2006 and matching sellouts of 15,075 in 2007, 2008, 2009, 2010, 2012, 2013 and 2014.

The event has evolved into an extraordinary and powerful night dedicated to awareness and hope. In the week prior to each Power of Pink meet, the Coliseum and dozens of University and Tuscaloosa buildings and landmarks are lit in pink. Prior to the start of the meet itself, the gymnasts step up on to a platform in the center of the arena floor alongside a breast cancer survivor, honoring their fight and those of so many others.

Within the UA athletics department the event has grown from gymnastics to other sports to the point where Alabama Athletics' Power of Pink program sees Crimson Tide women's teams hosting pink events throughout the year.

The pink events have also gone beyond Crimson Tide athletics and Tuscaloosa, exploding into a nationwide cause. Since Alabama hosted its first meet in 2005, all of the nation's top gymnastics programs have either hosted or participated in a pink meet, including every member of the Southeastern Conference.

The Women's Basketball Coaches Association started its pink initiative in 2007, encouraging its members to participate in a "Think Pink" week that has now evolved into the WBCA's "Pink Zone."

There have been similar efforts at the collegiate level in women's soccer and volleyball as well. Even the NFL and Major League Baseball have gotten into the act with NFL players wearing pink gloves, chinstraps and shoes during Breast Cancer Awareness Month in October and MLB players using pink bats on Mother's Day in a show of support in the fight against breast cancer.

From the beginning, support for Patterson's Power of Pink initiative was swift and widespread.

"So many people have worked extremely hard and put in long hours for this worthy cause, this vital fight," Patterson said. "What we all realize is that as coach Paul Bryant was fond of saying 'The price of victory is high, but so are the rewards.' I can think of no greater reward, no better return on the investment of time and resources so many have put forth, than beating this disease."

The Power of Pink continues to grow every day, and because of the way Tuscaloosa has taken to the Power of Pink, women in the West Alabama community have someone in their corner in the fight against breast cancer.

THE DCH BREAST CANCER FUND

The DCH Foundation established a fund to support Sarah Patterson's Power of Pink initiative in the winter of 2004. Donations can be made to the DCH Breast Cancer Fund by mailing a check to: DCH Foundation, 809 University Blvd. E., Tuscaloosa, AL 35401. The DCH Breast Cancer Fund should be noted on the memo line of the check.

The DCH Foundation, Inc., was established in 1973 to provide a way for citizens of West Alabama to help create for themselves the best health system in the nation.

More about the DCH Breast Cancer Fund:

The DCH Breast Cancer Fund's purpose is to promote awareness and provide educational programs on prevention and early detection of breast cancer. The Fund also provides breast screenings to women in need of those services. Patients who meet the eligibility requirements will be provided assistance to pay for early detection services at the DCH Cancer Center. Eligibility criteria will be prepared and provided upon request.

KEEPING UP WITH THE CRIMSON TIDE

Already one of the nation's most visible collegiate athletics programs, Alabama gymnastics received a huge boost in exposure in 2014 with the advent of the SEC Network, a highly successful joint venture between the Southeastern Conference and ESPN to highlight the league and its schools. With more live events than any other conference, gymnastics was one of the sports that took a huge leap in exposure and popularity with the new venture.

"We are so excited that our fans across the country and really around the world will have the opportunity to see our ladies compete live," head coach Dana Duckworth said. "The SEC Network and ESPN provide such amazing exposure for our team and our University."

In 2016, the SEC Network's gymnastics coverage took another step forward when both sessions of the Southeastern Conference Championships were broadcast live.

"It's so exciting that the SEC Network has put this kind of comprehensive coverage together for us and our fans," Duckworth said. "They are changing the way gymnastics is viewed. Our fans across the world will be able to follow every routine and that's great for fans of the SEC and everyone who loves gymnastics."

The blueprint the SEC Network created with the SEC Championship broadcasts were carried over to nationals when the same crew came together to broadcast the NCAA Championships live on ESPN's family of networks.

In August of 2019, the SEC Network celebrated its fifth anniversary, remaining the most widely distributed conference network and, heading into year seven, has already broadcast more than 2,800 live events on its linear channel.

In 2022, seven of the Tide's regular-season meets will be broadcast live and two will streamed via the SEC Network+ platform. The SEC and NCAA Championships are slated to be broadcast live on the ABC/ESPN family of networks, while the regionals will be streamed via ESPN+ and the WatchESPN app.

The 2022 season will also see Alabama's meet at Florida become the first regular-season collegiate gymnastics meet in history to be aired live on ABC. Alabama will also compete on ESPN, ESPN2 and ESPNU as well as the SEC Network during the season.

Since 2000, Crimson Tide gymnastics has also had its own weekly television show during the season.

The "Dana Duckworth Show" got underway in 2015. The half-hour show, produced in the Crimson Tide's state-of-the-art digital media center, highlights the gymnastics team's season.

The Tide is also featured on a weekly video feed that sends highlights and interviews to television stations around the country to be used in local and national broadcasts, so that no matter where a gymnast is from, her hometown media outlets can keep up with her.

Duckworth is a regular on the Tide's weekly radio program, "Hey, Coach!" during the season, talking all things Alabama gymnastics.

As for keeping up with the day-to-day aspects of the Tide, BamaGymnastics is the Crimson Tide's handle for Twitter, Instagram and Facebook. Alabama stands among the national leaders when it comes to collegiate gymnastics programs Twitter followers and Instagram and Facebook likes. Duckworth also keeps everyone up to date on everything Alabama on Instagram (UACoachDana).

The official University of Alabama Athletics site is located at RollTide.com and features stories, videos and photo galleries covering all aspects of Alabama gymnastics.

Alabama is also one of the few collegiate women's programs in the nation that produces a full-color program for its home meets. The souvenir program includes bios, features, photos and opponent information.

DANA DUCKWORTH

HEAD COACH

ALMA MATER: ALABAMA (1993)

To say that Dana Duckworth has never met a stranger is an understatement.

"I love connecting with people," she said. "It's one of the true joys in my life."

It's an attribute she first developed growing up in Michigan and continued during her extraordinary career, first within USA Gymnastics and later as an NCAA Champion at Alabama.

It's also what led her to be ultra-successful, first in the corporate world and then as an assistant coach and then, ultimately, head coach at her alma mater.

"At Alabama, we want to develop gymnasts who enjoy great success both in the arena and in the classroom, but more than that, we focus on developing the whole person," Duckworth said. "That's always been one of the cornerstones of this program and its success."

The Crimson Tide's head coach since July 2014, Duckworth's continuation of that philosophy has held Alabama and its gymnasts in good stead. Under Duckworth's guidance, Alabama has posted seven-consecutive top-12 national finishes, including four in the top-six, while winning Southeastern Conference team titles in 2015 and 2021.

Crimson Tide gymnasts have earned All-America honors every year during her tenure as head coach along with four individual NCAA titles, including Luisa Blanco (balance beam) and Lexi Graber (floor exercise) in 2021.

The 2021 season also saw Blanco earn SEC Gymnast of the Year honors and Blanco, Graber, Makarri Doggette and Shallon Olsen add to the Tide's All-America tally.

In 2015, Duckworth became the first in league history to lead a team to an SEC gymnastics championship as a first-year head coach.

The 2015 season also saw the Tide extended its streak of top-four NCAA finishes to seven, by far the best in the nation at that point, and its NCAA-best 30th regional title, all in her first season as head coach.

She also got to fly with the Blue Angles, serve as the Grand Marshal of the Crimson Tide's 2015 Homecoming Parade, visit midfield of Bryant-Denny Stadium to receive yet another championship ring and look on as Kim Jacob was honored as a finalist for the NCAA Woman of the Year in Indianapolis.

That success has continued unabated ever since. Alabama earned another NCAA regional title, and finished third at the NCAA Championships in 2016, marking the Tide's 23rd top-three national finish, the most in collegiate gymnastics history. She also saw 2016 senior Lauren Beers earn her third NCAA Elite 90 Award and the 2016 Brad Davis Community Service Award.

In 2017, Alabama earned its NCAA-best 23rd Super Six Finals berth and became the only team to finish in the top six each of the previous 10 years. Individually, Katie Bailey earned another individual NCAA title, while Keely McNeer earned Alabama's 20th NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship.

In 2018, Alabama won its NCAA-best 32nd regional championship, posted its 20th consecutive top-three finish at the SEC Championships, taking second place, and advanced to the NCAA Championships for the 36th year in a row, while posting its 34th top-eight finish and 36th in the top 10. Mackenzie Brannan also closed out her career as a three-year CoSIDA Academic All-American as well as an SEC and NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship winner.

In 2019, the Crimson Tide extended its streak of top-12 finishes to 37-consecutive years, making UA one of just two programs in NCAA gymnastics history to never finish outside the top-12 nationally.

During a Covid-19 shortened 2020 season, Duckworth was named the WCGA Region 1 Head Coach of the Year while leading Alabama to an eighth-place national finish, marking the Tide's 37th top-10 finish. The 2020 season also saw Makarri Doggette become the 75th UA gymnast to be named an All-American, earning the honor on the uneven bars.

Through all this, Duckworth found that fundamentals of leadership, whether as a gymnast, volunteer coach, full-time assistant coach or head coach, remain the same.

"I am here to help these young ladies become the best version of themselves," Duckworth said. "If I'm focused on that, then everything else will take care of itself. There's no cookie-cutter approach at Alabama. We take the time to get to know each gymnast and identify what will make them successful and then we work to achieve as much as we can within a family environment."

That understanding of what drives success at Alabama is why Duckworth was the only choice for the legendary Sarah and David Patterson when they went looking for an assistant coach in the late 2000s and again when the Pattersons retired and the University needed to hire a new head coach for the first time in nearly 40 years.

"I took recruiting trips to the top five schools – schools that are still in the top five today – and I felt something here," Duckworth said. "I felt a connection with the coaches and with the team, a chemistry that I knew, even then, that I would not find at a different school. I went on four other trips and they just solidified what I felt here at Alabama. I love our environment, I love our culture, I love our tradition and I love the fact that when you go out as an Alabama gymnast you represent all those things."

It was those same elements that made her decision to leave a lucrative career with Pfizer Pharmaceuticals to join the Alabama coaching staff on a full-time basis in the fall of 2008 after nine years as a volunteer coach with the Crimson Tide such an easy one.

"I really enjoyed what I was doing at Pfizer and it's a tremendous company, but my heart and my passion have always been here at the Capstone with our program," Duckworth said. "I felt like this was an opportunity for me to do what I love and everyone I have ever talked to has said, if you love what you do, you'll never go to another day of work in your life."

Part of the Alabama gymnastics program as a gymnast and coach for 25 seasons, Duckworth has been a part of NCAA team championships from both sides. She was part of the Tide's 1991 NCAA title as a sophomore and the 2002, 2011 and 2012 NCAA championships as a coach. She has also won conference titles as an athlete (1990) and a coach (2003, 2009, 2011, 2014 and 2015).

As much as Duckworth appreciates the championship tradition she has been a part of for so long, what she holds most dear is the overall atmosphere created by the people who live, work and go to school at Alabama.

THE DUCKWORTHS

From the left - Camryn, Dana, Joe and Jace

"The people at The University of Alabama make everything unique and special," Duckworth said. "I love the fact that The University of Alabama is about tradition and culture. I tell people all the time that Tuscaloosa is the best-kept secret because we have it all here and everyone approaches things with a great deal of passion. It makes people's experience very special."

In addition to her infectious enthusiasm for the Crimson Tide and her skills as a technical coach, Duckworth also brings her standing as one of the nation's premier choreographers to the gym. Nothing drives that point home quite like the consistent success the athletes she has worked with have enjoyed.

When Geralen Stack-Eaton won the 2011 NCAA floor exercise championship to cap off an extraordinary junior season, it marked the fifth time that a Duckworth-choreographed routine won the NCAA floor title, including one each by Alabama's Morgan Dennis and Ashley Miles plus a pair by North Carolina's Courtney Bumpers. During her storied Tide career, Miles earned four top-three national finishes on the floor, including the 2004 NCAA floor exercise championship. Duckworth also helped Miles win four consecutive Southeastern Conference and NCAA Regional floor exercise titles. Miles became the first gymnast in SEC history to win the same event all four years of her career.

"It's such a wonderful experience to be able to help these athletes bring out their personality and perform routines that shine," Duckworth said.

As a gymnast, the former Dana Dobransky earned eight All-America accolades and finished her career in 1993 by winning her second consecutive NCAA balance beam title with a perfect 10.0. She was named NCAA Woman of the Year for the State of Alabama in 1993.

As a student, Duckworth was a three-year Scholastic All-American and a two-time CoSIDA at-large Academic All-American, an award that spans several sports. She was inducted into Mortar Board as an undergraduate and earned both an NCAA and SEC Postgraduate Scholarship, utilizing them to attend graduate school at Alabama and obtain her Master of Business Administration in 1998.

"I could have gone anywhere in the country to get my MBA," Duckworth said. "But I chose to come back to Alabama because our business school is one of the best in the country and I loved the size of the campus, I loved the MBA program and more than all that, it was a chance to come back to a place I consider home."

In fall 2018, the UA MBA program named Duckworth as its Alumni of the Year, honoring all she has accomplished since earning her degree.

After graduating with her bachelor's degree, Duckworth moved up the corporate ladder quickly at AMX Corporation, a high-tech firm based in Dallas. She finished her tenure there as manager of AMX's training programs. After receiving her master's degree, Duckworth served as director of marketing for a Trussville-based automotive company followed by a stint as Vice President of Corporate Solutions for a Birmingham company before returning to Tuscaloosa for a highly successful run with Pfizer.

Duckworth's return to Tuscaloosa also saw her start a family. She and her husband Joe, a Tuscaloosa native, married in 2000. The couple has a daughter Camryn born in 2004 and a son Jace born in 2006.

"I could not do this without the support of my husband, my children and my family," Duckworth said. "I also couldn't do this without the support and love of the Alabama gymnastics family. Being an Alabama gymnast is so much more than a four-year commitment. It's building a bond that lasts a lifetime."

RYAN ROBERTS

Assistant Coach

UMASS - AMHERST (2003)

Ryan Roberts continues to make a profound impact on the Alabama gymnastics program ever since joining the staff as an assistant coach in August of 2018, earning WCGA Region 1 Assistant Coach of the Year honors in 2020 and 2021.

"Ryan is a sharp, highly respected coach with international and national elite experience who has high expectations for himself, our student-athletes and our program," UA head coach Dana Duckworth said. "His gymnast-first philosophy encompasses not only performance, but the mental and physical well-being and long-term development of the total person as well. This belief complements the very foundation of our program."

In 2021, Roberts' third season with the Crimson Tide, Alabama won its 10th Southeastern Conference title and posted its 33rd top-six NCAA finish, taking fifth at the national championships. Luisa Blanco was named the SEC Gymnast of the Year and was a finalist for the Honda Award. Blanco, and Lexi Graber each won an individual national title, Blanco on the balance beam and Graber on the floor exercise. Blanco, Graber, Makarri Doggette and Shallon Olsen also earned All-America honors.

Roberts also earned a Master of Business Administration from Alabama in 2021.

THE ROBERTS

In his first season with the Crimson Tide, Roberts helped propel Alabama to a league-best six All-SEC honors as well as its 37th-consecutive top-12 national finish, making UA one of two schools to never finish outside the NCAA top-12. The 2020 season also saw the Tide post its 37th top-10 finish, finishing eighth nationally, while Doggette became the 75th UA gymnast to earn All-America honors.

In addition to his work with the Crimson Tide, Roberts has been a member of the USA Gymnastics National Staff since 2018. He has coached the uneven bars for the National Elite Development Team Camps and has worked numerous developmental camps around the country.

Roberts came to Alabama following five years with the World Olympic Gymnastics Academy (WOGA) in Frisco, Texas. At WOGA, he coached members of the United States, Russian and Ecuadorian national teams. He also coached a trio of USA international Elite gymnasts, three Junior Olympic national champions and numerous gymnasts who earned college scholarships. While at WOGA, he also served as the personal coach to three USA National Team members, one of which earned a bronze medal at the Junior World Championships, as well as a Russian National Team member who won a silver medal at the World Championships and gold at the European Championships.

"Ryan is not only an excellent coach, but he is a person of tremendous character whose holistic development of student-athletes will be a great asset to The University of Alabama and our gymnastics program," Duckworth added.

A former U.S. Junior Olympic National All-Around Champion, a U.S. National Championships all-around bronze medalist and a three-year member of the U.S. Junior National Team, Roberts helped lead the United States to a win in the 1996 USA vs. Canada meet.

"I identify with Dana's philosophy and vision for the team along with her passion to see her student-athletes be the best on the competition floor as well as be the best version of themselves outside the gym," Roberts said.

A much sought after coach at gymnastics clinics and camps across the nation, Roberts spent six years coaching in Fredrikstad, Norway prior to joining the WOGA staff.

During his time in Norway, Roberts served as the Norwegian National Team head coach for numerous international competitions including European Championships, World Cups, Northern European Championships and Nordic Championships. In fall 2013, he was head coach of the Norwegian Senior and Junior National Team camps, and of developmental Roberts' coaching career spans 20-plus years, including a number of years at West Coast Elite Gymnastics (Arcadia, Calif.).

A former communications officer and platoon commander in the U.S. Marine Corps, Roberts was deployed to Iraq in 2005 in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom.

"In addition to his technical knowledge of the sport and professionalism, his diverse background, education, military and professional experience will make a huge difference for our gymnasts and staff," Duckworth said.

Roberts competed for two years at the University of New Mexico before finishing his career as a two-time NCAA qualifier at the University of Massachusetts-Amherst, where he earned his bachelor's degree in psychology in 2003. He also earned a master's degree in theology from Fuller Theological Seminary in 2010.

Roberts and his wife Hanne have three children, Leo Olav, Aurora Amber and Pax Luca Ryan.

1ST SEASON
GINA QUINLAN
Assistant Coach
ALABAMA (2000)

During the summer of 2021, for the second time in her life, Gina Quinlan packed up her life and headed east to join The University of Alabama gymnastics program.

Quinlan originally made the journey 25 years ago when she left her native Mississippi to join the Alabama gymnastics team as a freshman in the fall of 1996. Now, Quinlan, formerly Gina Logan, rejoins the Crimson Tide as an assistant coach after a 20-plus year career in club gymnastics.

"We are extremely excited to have Gina join our staff," UA head coach Dana Duckworth said. "She brings extraordinary depth to our team as a veteran coach with an incredible, process-oriented, technical eye. She is a compassionate woman whose experience and style aligns with the core values of Alabama gymnastics. In speaking with several of her former gymnasts who went on to compete at the NCAA level, it was apparent that she develops genuine, authentic connections with her athletes and had a direct positive impact on the rest of their lives well beyond the arena floor. I have great respect for Gina's coaching path and career development at every level and the success she's brought to every program and athlete she has coached. With Gina on board, I look forward to continuing to build championship teams and amazing young women."

Prior to returning to Alabama, Quinlan was a part of the Metroplex Gymnastics staff for 10 years, where she spent seven seasons as co-program director and the last three as head vault and uneven bars coach and Elite Program Coordinator.

"I am more than thrilled to be returning to my alma mater to continue my coaching career," Quinlan said. "The University of Alabama is committed to academic excellence, with tremendous energy, pride and tradition surrounding our athletics program. The dominance of Alabama Athletics is unparalleled. There are many lessons I learned during my time at the Capstone that I have taken into every aspect of my career and life."

"Bama Gymnastics has always maintained a huge focus on family and teamwork and that shaped my idea of what a high-level team should be. I am very excited to work with Dana, Ryan, Oleksii and this talented team and to continue to help develop young women not only as athletes, but as whole people. I have spent over 21 years in the club gymnastics community and look forward to furthering those relationships and continuing to recruit more of the nation's best athletes to advance their careers at Alabama."

While at Metroplex, she coached more than three dozen athletes who went on to earn NCAA Division I scholarships and that number jumps to nearly 50 over the span of her 15 years in Texas. Metroplex was named Region 3 Program of the Year, Texas Program of the Year and the Meetscoresonline Program of the Year during her tenure.

She also developed six Elite gymnasts and more than a dozen Junior Olympic National Team Members, including a pair of Junior Olympic National Champions, at Metroplex.

Prior to Metroplex, she spent five years at Texas Dreams Gymnastics (2005-10), where she coached more than 15 TOPs National Team Members.

Quinlan started her coaching career at American Gymnastics (2000-05) where she served as head coach.

During her time as a Crimson Tide gymnast, Quinlan was an NCAA regional balance beam champion and Scholastic All-American who served as co-captain of Alabama's 2000 SEC Championship squad. She also helped lead Alabama to three NCAA Regional titles and a pair of top-three NCAA Championship finishes. She earned a bachelor's degree from Alabama in 2000 and a master's degree from UAB in 2003.

2ND SEASON OLEKSII KOLTAKOV
Volunteer Coach
NAT'L UNIVERSITY OF PE & SPORT (2009)

Oleksii Koltakov joined the Crimson Tide's staff as a volunteer coach in February 2021, helping bolster the Alabama gymnastics team to a Southeastern Conference Championship and a top-five national finish.

"It has been an honor to join the legendary University of Alabama gymnastics program," Koltakov said. "Everyday is exciting working with the girls and learning among this strong experienced coaching staff. I look forward to continuing to develop the athletes towards reaching excellence in and out of the gym."

Koltakov began his coaching career at the Piddubny Olympic College and Azerbaijan Gymnastics Federation in 2013. He has since coached at National Elite Gymnastics in Austin, Texas as well as serving as a High Performance coach at numerous camps and clinics across the United States.

"As a staff and team, we all felt the positive impact of Oleksii's arrival at the end of regular season and beginning of post-season," UA head coach Dana Duckworth said. "It was a win-win for all. His kind personality, passion for the sport and drive to learn everything about college gymnastics was a breath of fresh air and kept me smiling. Oleksii has been like a sponge, absorbing everything as he watches film, sits in meetings, observes how we do things and also find ways to contribute and make our team better. He has an eye for technique, is a good spotter and brought new drills and ideas to our team and our ladies appreciate his wonderful sense of humor."

In addition to coaching, Koltakov has performed as an artistic acrobat as part of Cirque du Soleil throughout North America.

A former member of the Ukraine National Team, Koltakov competed at the 2009 European Championships in Milano, Italy as well as the 2009 World Cup in Ostrava, Czech Republic, where the Ukraine was a finalist. He also helped lead the Ukraine to the finals of the 2011 World Cup in Stuttgart, Germany.

He was a five-time Ukrainian Pommel Horse Champion from 2008-12 and the Ukrainian Floor Exercise Champion in 2011. He led his team to the Ukrainian Championship in both 2009 and 2011.

A two-time graduate of the National University of Physical Education and Sport of Ukraine, he earned his bachelor's degree in coaching and physical education in 2009 and a master's degree biomechanics of sport specializing in Olympic and professional sports.

Koltakov is married to British Olympic gymnast Marissa King. In addition to representing Great Britain at the 2008 Olympic Games in Beijing, King also competed at the 2007 and 2009 World Championships. An 11-time All-American, King won the 2011 NCAA Vault Champion.

"Oleksii adores his wife, Marissa, and not only do they make a special couple, I love how much they support one another toward their goals and aspirations," Duckworth said.

DUCKWORTH ON KOLTAKOV

"Oleksii has been like a sponge, absorbing everything as he watches film, sits in meetings, observes how we do things and also find ways to contribute and make our team better. He has an eye for technique, is a good spotter and brought new drills and ideas to our team and our ladies appreciate his wonderful sense of humor."

22 SEASONS
MONICA KIRKPATRICK
 Athletic Trainer
 ARIZONA STATE (2000)

There is nothing more important to Dana Duckworth than the health and welfare of her gymnasts, which is why athletic trainer Monica Kirkpatrick, now in her 22nd year as a member of the gymnastics program, is such an important part of Duckworth's staff.

"Monica is an amazing asset to our program," Duckworth said. "She is so knowledgeable not only when it comes to athletic training in general, but after more than a dozen years working with our program, she knows exactly how to apply that knowledge when it comes to the sport of gymnastics. There's no one better when it comes to taking care of our ladies."

A native of Phoenix, Ariz., Kirkpatrick earned her Bachelor's Degree in Exercise Science from Arizona State in 2000. She earned a Master's in Sports Medicine Health Care from Alabama in 2002 and is pursuing a second Master's in Food and Nutrition.

In addition to serving as a certified athletic trainer on the Tide staff, Kirkpatrick is also a clinical instructor in Alabama's athletic training undergraduate program.

Much of Kirkpatrick's day-to-day work, especially in the preseason, is spent on preventative measures, helping stop problems before they get started. During the season, most of her time is spent helping the athletes maintain their health and fitness levels.

"Positive reinforcement is a big part of the job," Kirkpatrick said. "To be there every day, encouraging them, letting them know that they are making progress and keeping them positive."

Kirkpatrick is ever-present throughout the rehabilitation process to help the gymnasts return to peak health as quickly and safely as possible. Kirkpatrick worked extensively with 2002 senior Andréé Pickens, helping her come back from a torn Achilles tendon. She was part of a team that included orthopedic surgeon Dr. James Andrews, who helped Pickens not only come back in record time but lead Alabama to its fourth NCAA Championship in 2002. For her efforts that season, Kirkpatrick was awarded the David Dutton Memorial Award, presented to individuals who go above and beyond the call of duty for the Alabama gymnastics program.

In addition to her other duties, Kirkpatrick teaches her charges the importance of carrying on healthy habits into the life beyond their career.

"I hope that I can teach them all enough about taking care of themselves, that when they go out into the world, they enjoy healthy and successful lives," Kirkpatrick said. "And being part of the Alabama gymnastics family, I look forward to watching them grow and mature over the years."

Kirkpatrick and her husband Billy have four children, daughters Ayana and Shiloh, as well as sons Hayden and Christian.

3RD SEASON
DAVID ALBARANES
 Strength and Conditioning Coach
 COLLEGE AT BROCKPORT (2015)

In his third season as Alabama gymnastics' strength and conditioning coach, David Albaranes has made an immediate impact on the Crimson Tide program.

"When we were looking to add to our staff, we knew that David was who we wanted to bring in," UA head coach Dana Duckworth said. "Strength and conditioning is a vital part of any program. He is extremely knowledgeable about the sport of gymnastics and the best way to integrate effective strength and conditioning programs into our program."

A NSCA certified strength and conditioning specialist and an ACSM certified exercise physiologist, Albaranes joined the Alabama staff after a year at the University of Illinois. While with the Illini, he worked with both the men's and women's gymnastics programs as well as the swimming and diving teams and the cheerleading program.

"I am so excited to work side by side with the coaching and athletic training staff to ensure that our student athletes stay healthy throughout the year and are ready to peak during championship season," Albaranes said. "I started gymnastics when I was 10 years old, so nothing in sports get me more fired up than a stick. That guy throwing his hands in the air and yelling 'Let's GO,' after every stick ... that's definitely me."

A 2015 graduate of The College at Brockport, he was a double major in exercise science and kinesiology. Following that, he pursued a master's degree in exercise science and sports studies at Springfield College.

While at Springfield, he served as a graduate assistant coach with the gymnastics team, helping develop and implement the training structure.

He served as a graduate assistant strength and conditioning coach at Springfield during the 2017-18 academic year, working with the men's gymnastics team.

During the spring semester of 2018, Albaranes served as an adjunct member of the faculty, teaching junior and senior strength and conditioning courses that focused on needs analysis, program design, periodization, core training, energy system development, and monitoring training load.

Other stops prior to joining the Crimson Tide included serving as a summer intern in strength and conditioning at Harvard in 2017 as well as an exercise physiologist at Peak Performance during the 2015-16 academic year.

While at the College at Brockport, he was a four-year member of the men's gymnastics club team, serving as captain during his senior year. He also served as president of the Omicron Delta Kappa leadership honor society during the 2014-15 academic year.

4TH SEASON RAINEY GERALD
Assistant Director, Performance Nutrition
ALABAMA (2017)

Rainey Gerald and the performance nutrition staff are the Crimson Tide's secret weapons when it comes to keeping its gymnasts fueled and ready at all times for whatever is on the horizon, whether it's practice, competition or the recovery phase of the season.

Gerald is in her fourth season with the gymnastics team and third year as full-time member of the performance nutrition staff after serving as an intern for two years.

"It is rewarding to work with the high achieving young women on our team," Gerald said. "Collaborating with the staff and student-athletes, to support their physical development and positively affect their nutrition and performance is important. Setting realistic goals and impacting our team's recovery are key components of our success."

Gerald earned her undergraduate degree in food and nutrition in 2017 and a master's degree in human environmental sciences in 2018, both from Alabama.

Gerald is part of director of Performance Nutrition Amy Bragg's staff which oversees the nutritional coaching for Alabama's student-athletes as well as managing training table, pregame and travel meals.

"With gymnastics, we want to integrate with sports medicine and strength and conditioning and take an educator's role and a coaching role with the girls," Bragg said. "We work with them on their overall nutrition and then work with the team more in an operations capacity, helping plan meals on the road and nutrition in the locker room and for recovery on a team-wide basis."

They also work closely with the coaching, strength and conditioning and sports medicine staffs to maximize gymnasts' health and performance.

"Amy, Rainey and the performance nutrition staff are amazing assets to our program," head coach Dana Duckworth said. "Their knowledge and expertise give us an amazing boost in keeping our ladies healthy and strong."

The Tide's Performance Nutrition staff's duties are broad-based, but the focus is specific to each program. With gymnastics, planning and insight has been very effective.

"For gymnasts, we want precise, confident fueling," Bragg said. "We want the appropriate amount of protein. We want good weight management through the season. We want maintenance of that muscle and body that we create in the offseason so that power is maintained throughout the season."

Duckworth and the gymnastics staff work with the Tide's performance nutrition group to make sure that the gymnasts get exactly the fuel they need to be at their best throughout the season.

"We work together to continue the plan we have put in place over the last several years that is focused on a balance of the mind, body and spirit which includes a focus on natural foods," Duckworth said.

Before the 2018-19 academic year, the Crimson Tide's 25,000-square foot Fuel Center and Smoothie Bar addition to the Mal Moore Athletics Facility came online.

The building has serving areas on two levels, 10 action stations, a grab-and-go fuel center, a smoothie bar and more than 50 HD televisions. There are also two outdoor patio dining areas and a private dining space housed on the upper level for meetings, nutrition education and cooking demonstrations. In addition to Bragg and Gerald, the performance nutrition staff includes four registered dietitians, five performance chefs and more than 20 assistants.

"Our new performance nutrition center is absolutely amazing," Duckworth said. "It gives us everything we need to be successful from a nutritional perspective under one roof and the resources to not only provide fuel for our ladies, but also to educate them on how to properly fuel themselves on a daily basis."

ROBIN KELLEY
Gymnastics Director of Operations

The Crimson Tide's director of operations, Robin Kelley is in her 20th year with the Alabama gymnastics program, though she has been a part of the athletics department for the past 23 years.

The Northport, Ala., native performs a wide variety of duties, including keeping up with the program's recruiting correspondence, budget, travel arrangements and team meals. She also travels with the Tide, taking care of all the many details on the road.

"Robin is such a treasure," Dana Duckworth said. "She makes travel a breeze, taking care of everything and keeping us moving forward at all times."

Kelley was presented with the David Dutton Memorial Award, given to the individual who goes above and beyond for the program, in 2013 and the University's Sam S. May Commitment to Service Award in 2019.

She was also named the 2020 WCGA Region 1 Administrator of the Year by a vote of the coaches association.

Kelley and her husband Jay have two sons, Tanner, who is a University of Alabama graduate, and Jesse.

MABRY CRADDOCK
Events and Program Relations Coordinator

As the Crimson Tide's events and program relations coordinator, Mabry Craddock is responsible for a wide variety of tasks, from daily paperwork to home meet coordination to alumni relations and everything in between.

The Winter Haven, Fla., native began working with the gymnastics program as an Alabama freshman, and was part of the crew that put on the 2014 SEC Championships as well as the 2016 and 2018 NCAA Regional Championships.

"Mabry has been preparing for this role since she first stepped on campus," Duckworth said. "She is a tremendous addition to our staff and one that really cares about this program and our ladies."

After graduating from Alabama in 2016 with a degree in exercise science, Craddock spent a year in New York City doing marketing for the New York Yankees events department before returning to Alabama where she coached at Mountain Brook Gymnastics for two years before joining the UA gymnastics staff in the summer of 2019.

THE DETAILS

- There are 16 gymnasts on the 2022 roster – one graduate student, five seniors, four juniors, three sophomores and three freshmen
- Alabama returns 22 of its 24 routines from its 2021 SEC Championships lineup, including its entire vault and uneven bars lineups
- There are two individual NCAA Champions on this year's team – Luisa Blanco (balance beam) and Lexi Graber (floor exercise)
- The Crimson Tide's 2022 lineup returns four All-Americans who combine for 14 honors – Blanco, Graber, Makarri Doggette and Shallon Olsen
- Blanco returns as the 2021 WCGA District 1 and SEC Gymnast of the Year and a finalist for the 2021 Honda Award
- A total of three NCAA Regional champions are back this season: Blanco (2021 – all-around, balance beam), Doggette (2021 – uneven bars) and Graber (2018 – all-around, vault)
- There are four individual SEC champions on this year's team: Blanco (all-around, vault, uneven bars, balance beam), Graber (balance beam), Doggette (uneven bars) and Shania Adams (uneven bars)
- The Crimson Tide also returns six gymnasts who have earned All-SEC honors during their careers: Adams, Blanco, Doggette, Graber, Olsen and Kaylee Quinn
- Dana Duckworth, in her eighth season as head coach, is in her 27th season with the Tide, including four years as a gymnast, nine as a volunteer coach and six as an assistant coach
- Ryan Roberts is in his fourth season as an assistant coach at Alabama
- Gina Quinlan is in her first season as an assistant coach with the Crimson Tide
- After taking fifth at the NCAA Championships in 2021, the Crimson Tide has finished in the top-12 nationally for the last 40 years in a row (1982-2021), making Alabama one of only two schools in collegiate gymnastics history to post top-12 finishes every year since women's gymnastics came under the NCAA auspices
- Alabama is one of just seven teams to win an NCAA championship, taking home the crown in 2012, 2011, 2002, 1996, 1991 and 1988
- The Crimson Tide has won an NCAA-best 32 regional championships, including the 2018 Tuscaloosa Regional title
- Alabama has won 10 SEC team titles, including five of the past 13 seasons

It was another championship season for the Alabama gymnastics team. The Crimson Tide won its 10th Southeastern Conference team title in 2021, while adding two individual NCAA Championships, a pair of NCAA Regional titles and seven individual SEC championships. Alabama also posted its 31st top-five national finish and saw four gymnasts earn 14 All-America honors.

All that success came during a global pandemic that had cut the previous season short and put a premium on staying focused and safe.

Alabama comes into the 2022 season with the same drive and determination to succeed that carried it through last season, with similar challenges as Covid-19 issues continue.

For the most part, the same group of gymnasts who carried the Crimson Tide to the top of the podium at the SEC Championships are back for another run. Alabama lost just two routines from its SEC title lineup, while returning 13 gymnasts. That group includes "super senior" Lexi Graber, who is utilizing her "Covid" year to compete for an unprecedented fifth year.

Graber, the 2021 NCAA floor exercise champion, is joined by defending NCAA balance beam champion Luisa Blanco, who enjoyed an absolutely dominant performance during her sophomore campaign. In addition to winning the national beam title, the Dallas, Texas, native was voted the NCAA Region 1 and SEC Gymnast of the Year and was a finalist for the 2021 Honda Award. She won four individual SEC titles, including the all-around, and scored a perfect 10.0 on the way to winning the NCAA Tuscaloosa Regional balance beam title.

Blanco was also the only gymnast in the nation last season to score a trio of 39.8-or-better makes in the all-around, giving her three of the five highest scores in UA history.

Also back this season are two-year uneven bars All-American Makarri Doggette and vault All-American and two-time Canadian Olympian Shallon Olsen. Doggette also scored a 10.0 during the 2021 NCAA Tuscaloosa Regional on the way to the uneven bars title, while Olsen finished in the vault for the second Olympiad in a row during the Tokyo Olympics.

Shania Adams, along with Blanco and Doggette, returns as the defending SEC uneven bars champion, while Kaylee Quinn earned All-SEC honors on the vault during her first season with the Crimson Tide.

Emily Gaskins, Griffin James and Sania Mitchell are ready to roll into their season seasons. Gaskins competed in the all-around to close out last season and is ready to close her career strong. James and Mitchell made an impact on the Tide's floor exercise lineup last season and are looking to add sizzle to this season's lineup as well.

After an injury put her rookie season on hold last season, Mati Waligora worked her way into the lineup last season and is pushing to compete in the all-around this season, while Ella Burgess, who sat out 2021 with an injury is ready to return this season.

A mainstay of Alabama's uneven bars last season, Cameron Machado is ramping up for another strong showing this season, while Isabella Martin, who joined the Tide for the spring semester in 2021 will look to provide solid depth this season.

In addition to a strong group of veterans, Alabama added a trio of newcomers to its roster - Corinne Bunagan, Lilly Hudson and Jordyn Paradise - and all three are hungry to make and immediate impact on the Crimson Tide's fortunes.

TIDE TRAVELS

Oh, the places they'll go! An Alabama gymnast will travel far and wide during her Crimson Tide tenure and will get there in style. Alabama travels to the vast majority of its competitions by charter plane, keeping time away from home to a minimum. Chartering also allows head coach Dana Duckworth to adjust departure times to best accommodate her student-athletes' class schedules.

Nothing brings a team together like time on the road. Time on the plane is spent studying, reading, listening to music and watching movies. Time is also spent chatting, singing and generally having a good time.

Just to make sure everything runs smoothly on a trip, a travel card is handed out before the Tide sets off for the Tuscaloosa Airport, detailing the schedule, what to wear and other important information.

During the regular season, once the plane touches down, a bus comes plane-side to pick the Tide up and take them to the hotel. The team then makes its way to a team dinner, usually at a well-known local restaurant that has the kind of variety where the gymnasts, coaches and staff can sample local cuisine or personal favorites.

Back at the hotel after dinner, everyone goes their own way, some back to their room to study or chat, some gathering in one room or another to watch a movie.

Breakfast usually finds everyone on their own, after which there is a trip to the mall arranged for those who want to hit the shops.

Team lunch starts the pre-meet ritual, with the Tide taking over a section of a local restaurant or having the meal catered at the hotel. After the competition, the bus takes Alabama back to the airport, where the charter plane stands ready to whisk them back to Tuscaloosa.

On longer trips, especially during the postseason, Alabama travels with its massage therapist, allowing them to get massages in preparation for competition.

While many trips find the Tide flying in and out of town for a meet, the trips are sometimes stretched to accommodate some exploring.

Trips west have allowed Alabama to see the sites, including stops in Seattle, and a trip to the Space Needle and the exterior set of "Grey's Anatomy," San Francisco, for cable car rides and wandering around Fisherman's Wharf, and Los Angeles, with tours of Hollywood and a walk on the red carpet at Sony Studios.

The gymnasts aren't the only ones hitting the road for away meets. The Tide has a dedicated group of family, friends and fans who follow them from one end of the country to the other. There is never a meet that doesn't see crimson and white-clad fans in the stands. And for those that can't make it to an away meet, the Tide utilizes social media to keep its fan base around the world informed of all things Alabama gymnastics.

ANOTHER CHAMPIONSHIP SEASON

Alabama gymnastics enjoyed another championship season in the gym and the classroom in 2021. The Crimson Tide won its 10th Southeastern Conference Championship and fifth since 2011, while adding to its individual NCAA, NCAA Regional and SEC Championships totals.

SEC CHAMPIONS, AGAIN

The Crimson Tide was on fire from start to finish on the way to winning its 10th Southeastern Conference Gymnastics Championship with a season-best 197.875 in 2021. Ranked eighth nationally coming into the championships, Alabama held off the No. 4 LSU Tigers, who took second, and downed No. 1 Florida Gators, who finished third. Alabama was led by Luisa Blanco, who won the all-around with a 39.800, and Lexi Graber, who posted a 39.575 to take third. Blanco also won a share of the vault, uneven bars, and balance beam. She shared the bars title with Shania Adams and Makarri Doggette and the beam title with Graber.

NCAA CHAMPIONS X2

Alabama gymnastics won a pair of individual NCAA Championships in 2021, with Lexi Graber taking home the floor exercise title and Luisa Blanco winning the balance beam. Both women scored a 9.9625 to earn their respective titles. With the wins, Alabama has now won at total of 29 individual NCAA titles. Blanco's title was the Tide's sixth on the beam, while Graber earned Alabama's sixth floor title.

ALL-AMERICANS

In addition to winning two individual NCAA Championships and finishing fifth in the nation in 2021, the Alabama gymnastics team saw four student-athletes earn eight Championship All-America honors during the NCAA Championships. Luisa Blanco, Makarri Doggette, Lexi Graber and Shallon Olsen all earned the accolades which are based on individual finishes in the NCAA Championships semifinal sessions, with first-team honors going to gymnasts who finish in the top four of their semifinal, and second team recognition going to those who finish in the second four. In all, 78 Alabama gymnasts have combined to earn 391 All-America honors.

That total includes Championship All-America honors as well as Regular Season All-America recognition, which began in 2013. When it comes to championship All-American honors, Blanco earned first-team honors in the all-around, balance beam, uneven bars and floor exercise. Graber took home first-team honors on the floor exercise and second-team accolades on the vault. Olsen and Makarri Doggette earned first-team recognition on the vault and uneven bars, respectively. A trio of Alabama gymnasts earned Regular Season All-America accolades in 2021. Blanco garnered first team in the all-around, balance beam and uneven bars and second team in the vault. Graber took first-team recognition in the floor exercise. Doggette was named second team in the uneven bars for the second year in a row. Between Championship and Regular Season, the Crimson Tide tallied 14 All-America honors, including 11 first-team honors.

CLASSROOM CHAMPIONS

Alabama gymnastics was named a 2021 Scholastic All-America team and saw 14 gymnasts earn individual Scholastic All-America honors in 2021. The Crimson Tide earned a 3.61 team grade point average, marking the 16th year in a row that Crimson Tide gymnastics has posted a team GPA of 3.4 or better. The Tide's 2021 Scholastic All-Americans include NCAA Champions Luisa Blanco and Lexi Graber, All-Americans Makarri Doggette and Shallon Olsen as well as Shania Adams, Ella Burgess, Sarah Duhe, Jencie Givens, Griffin James, Bailie Key, Alonza Klopfer, Cam Machado, Isabella Martin and Mati Waligora. The Tide's 14 Scholastic All-Americans is the fourth-highest total in school history, behind a school-record 19 in 2017, 16 in 2019 and 15 in 2020. Alabama has posted double digit honors the last 11 years in a row and 15 times since 1999. Overall, 115 Tide gymnasts have earned Scholastic All-America recognition 315 times since the award's inception in 1991.

SEC HONORS AND THE CRIMSON TIDE

Luisa Blanco was voted the 2021 Southeastern Conference Gymnast of the Year by the league's coaches, marking the seventh time a Crimson Tide gymnast has earned the honor and the first since Kayla Hoffman in 2011. The sophomore posted an extraordinary performance at the recent SEC Championships, winning four of five individual events to lead Alabama to its 10th conference title with a 197.875 team score. Blanco, Shania Adams, Makarri Doggette, Lexi Graber, Shallon Olsen and Kaylee Quinn earned All-SEC honors, giving the Crimson Tide six honors on the season. It marked the second year in the past three that Alabama has led the league in all-conference honors. Adams also earned SEC All-Freshman honors. In addition to Blanco and Hoffman, Jeana Rice (2004), Andree Pickens (2000, 2001, 2002) and Meredith Willard (1997) have all be voted SEC Gymnast of the Year from the Crimson Tide.

BIG SEASON FOR LUISA BLANCO

A sophomore from Dallas, Texas, Luisa Blanco was the 2021 NCAA Balance Beam Champion and the NCAA All-Around Runner-Up. The 2021 Southeastern Conference Gymnast of the Year, she led the Crimson Tide to its 10th SEC team title. She four five individual SEC titles in 2021, including the all-around, and posted the second highest all-around average in the nation and the highest in the Southeastern Conference. She also earned eight WCGA All-America honors, was named the 2021 WCGA Region 1 Gymnast of the Year and her winning SEC all-around score was the second highest in championship history. She posted the third highest all-around total in Alabama history (39.825) and three of the top-five in 2021. She was also the only gymnast in the nation to have more than one score of 39.800-or-better in the all-around, with two of her three coming in the postseason. She totaled 18 individual titles in 2021.

2021 CRIMSON TIDE HIGHLIGHTS

- The Crimson Tide won its 10th SEC Championships in 2021, remaining the only SEC school to never finish outside the top-four at the league championships
- The Crimson Tide finished fifth at the NCAA Championships and just .025 out of advancing to team finals (final four)
- While the Tide was third in its session, its score was fourth out of the eight teams that competed in the two NCAA Championships Semifinals
- It was Alabama's 31st top-five finish and makes the Tide one of two schools, along with Utah, to never finish outside the top-12 in the final national rankings since the start of the NCAA era in 1982
- Alabama posted five scores of 197.500-or-better during the season, the most since 2015
- The Tide scored a school-record 49.675 on the uneven bars at the NCAA Regional Championships
- All 12 UA gymnasts eligible by class earned a place on the SEC Academic Honor Roll
- A finalist for the Honda Award for Gymnastics, Luisa Blanco was voted the WCGA Region 1 Gymnast of the Year and the SEC Gymnast of the Year
- Blanco is the only gymnast in the nation to post more than one score of 39.800-or-better in 2021, earning three such marks, with those scores giving her three of the five highest scores in school history
- Blanco (balance beam) and Lexi Graber (floor exercise) both won individual NCAA titles, bumping Alabama's all-time total to 29
- Blanco, Makarri Doggette, Lexi Graber and Shallon Olsen earned All-America honors in 2021
- Between Championship and Regular Season accolades, the Crimson Tide tallied 14 All-America honors, including 11 first-team honors
- Blanco won the NCAA Tuscaloosa Regional all-around title with a 39.800, giving her the highest all-around score of any regional in 2021
- Blanco also picked up an individual regional title on the balance beam, where she scored the first perfect 10 of her career
- Doggette won the NCAA Regional Uneven Bars title with a perfect 10.0
- At the 2021 SEC Championships, Blanco won the all-around with a 39.800, the second highest score in championships history
- Blanco also won the SEC vault, uneven bars, and balance beam titles, sharing the uneven bars title with Shania Adams and Doggette and the balance beam title with Graber.
- Blanco, Adams, Doggette, Graber, Olsen and Kaylee Quinn all earned All-SEC honors, giving the Crimson Tide six honors this season
- The Tide's 2021 total of All-SEC honors marks the second year in the past three that Alabama has led the league in all-conference honors
- Adams earned SEC All-Freshman honors
- Dana Duckworth was named the WCGA Region 1 Head Coach of the Year for the second season in a row, while Bill Lorenz and Ryan Roberts were named the WCGA Region 1 Assistant Coaches of the Year, also for the second year in a row

A HISTORY OF ALABAMA GYMNASTICS

A TRADITION OF EXCELLENCE – A LEGACY OF CHAMPIONS

It started quietly. The University of Alabama's brand-new gymnastics squad, under the direction of Riki Sutton that first year, came together in the fall of 1974 and would compete for the first time in January of 1975. That first team finished third at the state championships and sixth at the regionals. Through the first four seasons of the program there are four different coaches and no winning seasons, and there is talk about discontinuing the program. That talk will come to an abrupt halt soon though, because things are about to get better for the young program, much, much better.

In the summer of 1978, "Grease" reigned at the box office and ABBA's "Take a Chance on Me" filled dance floors coast to coast. "Laverne and Shirley" was the most popular TV series on the air, though it was in re-runs. It is the summer of 1978 and things are about to turn around for the Crimson Tide, because Sarah Patterson has said yes.

She didn't ask about salary, or facilities or equipment. When the letter came asking if she would be Alabama's head coach, Patterson, all of 22 years old and just out of Slippery Rock State College, gave the Crimson Tide an emphatic and unequivocal "yes."

Her first move as Alabama's coach was to hire David Patterson, coming out of his freshman year as a Crimson Tide diver, as an assistant coach. The couple, married in 1984, then turned to the task at hand, taking a team without a winning season and creating a juggernaut that has performed at the highest conceivable level for more than three decades.

The adventures along the way came fast and furious. Sarah found herself explaining to her boss Paul "Bear" Bryant, the Tide's legendary football coach and athletics director, why a wrestling mat with a hole in the middle wouldn't do as a floor exercise mat.

"Once I explained what we needed," Sarah Patterson said, "Coach Bryant told Coach Sam Bailey (Bryant's right-hand man administratively) to get us what we needed. Coach Bryant wanted all our sports to be winners and he was willing to provide us with the tools."

And the facilities that Sarah hadn't asked about when taking the job, started with Foster Auditorium, where the Tide shared its practice space with the volleyball team.

"It was interesting," David Patterson said. "Every once in a while you'd have a stray volleyball come zinging through practice. Before every practice we'd have to set up all the equipment and the mats and at the end of every practice we'd have to break it all down again."

Things progressed quickly though. Prior to their first season, Sarah and David scoured the dorms on campus looking for anyone with tumbling experience, just so they could fill their lineup. They were though, doing some far more important recruiting farther afield.

In signing their first class, Sarah and David made one basic promise to their recruits. They promised the freshmen of 1980 that they would go to the national championships.

"The first real defining moment of our program was the first year we went to NAAs," Sarah said. "Our first recruiting class was in their senior year. We had promised them that we would make it to NAAs. In their junior year, we finished 11th and they took 10 teams. At the end of 1982, we all knew that we had one year to fulfill our commitment to these ladies. Seeing it happen their senior year, making it to the NCAA Championships – I couldn't have been prouder."

One promise fulfilled and another goal on the horizon. Sarah and David built their program, almost from scratch on the simple premise that Alabama would develop the whole person instead of just the athlete. From the beginning, Patterson-coached student-athletes excelled not only in the gym, but in the classroom as well. And beyond that, they developed lives outside of both. By the mid-1980s, the Pattersons began to wonder if their system would take the Tide to a national championship. They began to wonder if the Tide could truly have the best of all worlds.

The answer came as another emphatic yes in 1988 when the Tide won its first Southeastern Conference and NCAA championships.

"Before '88, I think sometimes we looked back and said, 'Maybe you can't have this philosophy of developing the whole person and be number one,'" Sarah Patterson said. "When we won, it was a validation of that philosophy. We could do it this way and be successful on all fronts. We may not win every year, but we will be successful."

And just to prove that 1988 was no fluke, the Pattersons led the Tide to NCAA titles in 1991, 1996, 2002, 2011 and 2012. Under their direction, Alabama is the only gymnastics program to win NCAA championships in four different decades.

Everything else has progressed as well. Alabama is also one of the nation's top academic programs, earning a national-best 19 NCAA Postgraduate Scholarships and over 300 SEC Academic Honor Roll honors. And long gone are the days of stray volleyballs flying through practice. Since 1996, the Tide has trained in a state-of-the-art practice facility dedicated to gymnastics alone.

The fan base has grown by leaps and bounds as well. Alabama gymnastics is one of the top draws in women's collegiate athletics, averaging a school and SEC-record 13,786 fans in 2010 and ranked second in the nation for all women's sports in 2014, 2013 and 2011 and third in 2012, 2015 and 2016. That wasn't always the case, though.

"In the early days, we'd have three dozen people and two dozen would be Ann Wood's family and friends," Sarah Patterson said.

Most importantly to all involved is that the student-athletes who helped turn Alabama into a national powerhouse have themselves developed into outstanding women making a difference in the world around them. The Tide's all-time roster is filled with doctors, lawyers, mothers and executives all excelling at the highest level.

"We are so proud of all the ladies who have come through our program and every championship won and every honor earned," Sarah Patterson said. "But more than anything, we are proud of the tremendously rich and full lives they go on to lead after graduation. To have been a small part of their success is a great thrill."

Things certainly changed, grew and blossomed since those first days of Alabama gymnastics success. Fast forward to the summer of 2014 and "Scandal," "The Voice" and "Modern Family" were keeping everyone glued to the small screens, while super heroes, including the X-Men, Captain America and the Guardians of the Galaxy, reigned supreme on the big screen, filling the theaters. On the radio, the ladies ruled the charts with Nicki Minaj, Ariana Grande and Iggy Azalea leading the way.

The summer of 2014 also saw a passing of the torch as Sarah and David Patterson – after helping the little program that couldn't quite find its feet in the 1970s win six NCAA championships, eight Southeastern Conference crowns, 29 NCAA Regional titles, 25 individual NCAA championships and earn 302 All-America honors – stepped down from coaching and Dana (Dobransky) Duckworth, who grew up in the program as an NCAA champion, volunteer coach and assistant coach took up the challenge of carrying the Tide into the future.

Embracing the mindset that created more than just one of the nation's best overall athletic programs, but a family that stretches back to the class of 1975 through the freshmen of 2020, Duckworth continues a philosophy that echoes another top song from 1978, this one by Sister Sledge, one that perfectly sums up Alabama gymnastics, "We are family ... I got all my sisters and me ..."

ALABAMA AT THE NCAA CHAMPIONSHIPS

On the national level, Alabama has enjoyed staggering success for 40 years ever since finishing 11th in the NCAA standings in 1982. The Crimson Tide won its sixth national championship, and second in a row, in 2012, marking the first time in Alabama's storied history that the team has won back-to-back titles. The Crimson Tide posted its 31st top-five national finish, finishing just .025 out of advancing to the final four at the NCAA Championships.

The 2021 season also marked Alabama's 40th-consecutive national top-12 finish, a stretch that includes 29 top-4 finishes, and 13 top-2 finishes.

Alabama gymnasts have also excelled individually, winning 29 individual NCAA championships, including Luisa Blanco's balance beam and Lexi Graber's floor exercise title in 2021.

Prior to 2021, Katie Bailey won the 2016 vault title and 2017 uneven bars championship. Kim Jacob's 2014 championship was the sixth all-around title by a Tide gymnast.

Bailey and Jacob joined Diandra Milliner, who won the 2013 NCAA vault title, and Geralen Stack-Eaton, who won NCAA Championships on the balance beam and floor exercise in 2011 and 2012, respectively, to give Alabama an individual NCAA title in six of eight years between 2011 and 2019.

In 2007, Morgan Dennis won the NCAA floor exercise title as a freshman while Terin Humphrey won her second national uneven bars title that same season, adding it to her 2005 championship.

Ashley Miles won four NCAA championships during her career, including three vault titles, 2003, 2004, 2006 and the 2004 floor exercise crown. In 2006, she became the first collegiate gymnast in 20 years to win the same event three times.

Jeana Rice brought home Alabama's fifth NCAA all-around title in 2004, joining Penney Hauschild, Alabama's first NCAA champion, who won all-around titles in 1985 and 1986, as well as Dee Foster and Meredith Willard who managed the feat in 1990 and 1996, respectively. Foster became the first collegiate gymnast to finish top-3 in the all-around all four years of her career. She was first in 1990, second in 1991 and 1993, and third in 1992.

In addition to her all-around titles, Hauschild won the uneven bars championship in 1985 and took home top marks in the floor exercise in 1986. Gina Basile was awarded the balance beam title in 1991, while Dana Dobransky was the first Tide gymnast to repeat on an individual event when she won back-to-back balance beam titles in 1992 and 1993.

Kim Kelly finished off her stellar career with a winning 10.0 floor exercise performance at the 1996 NCAA Individual Event Finals. That same year, Stephanie Woods won the uneven bars title as a junior. In 1999, Andréé Pickens won the NCAA balance beam as a rookie. She added a Cinderella finish to her standout career with the 2002 NCAA Uneven Bars Championship.

When it comes to All-America honors, Alabama has been extremely prolific as 78 Tide gymnasts have earned All-America honors a total of 371 times. In 1993, Foster set an NCAA record when she ended her career with 17 First-Team Championship All-America honors, a mark that still stands. In 2004, Rice set the national mark for All-America honors in a career, finishing with 18 combined first- and second-team honors.

NCAA WOMAN OF THE YEAR

First awarded in 1991, the Woman of the Year program honors academic and athletics excellence, as well as community service and leadership, on a national level. From 1991 to 2006, there were three levels: state winner, finalist and Woman of the Year. There are now four levels, conference winner, Top-30, Top-9 and Woman of the Year. The middle two tiers are now divided among the three NCAA Divisions, which means that for Division I, there are 10 finalists among the Top-30 and three among the Top-9.

NCAA TODAY'S TOP TEN AWARD

Among the highest honors that the NCAA can bestow, Alabama gymnasts have earned a place among the NCAA Today's Top Ten honorees five times, with Kim Jacob (opposite page) becoming the latest honoree in 2015. The Crimson Tide's other honorees, from the left: Kayla Hoffman with former Alabama Director of Athletics Mal Moore in 2011; Kristin Sterner with ESPN personality and University of Alabama graduate Rece Davis in 2003; André Pickens with former Crimson Tide gymnast and current Associate Athletics Director Marie Robbins in 2002; and Meredith Willard, who took home Alabama gymnastics' first honor in 1997, with former UA president Dr. Andrew Sorensen.

NATIONAL COACH OF THE

Sarah Patterson was named National Coach of the Year four times in three different decades, including 1986, 1988, 1991 and 2002.

HONDA AWARD

Kim Jacob, pictured on the opposite page, is the seventh Alabama gymnast to take home the Honda Award given annually to the national gymnast of the year. Jacob joined (from the left) Kayla Hoffman (2011), Ashley Miles (2006), Jeana Rice (2004), André Pickens (2002), Dee Foster (1993) and Penney Hauschild, who won it twice, in 1985 and 1986, giving Alabama eight Honda Awards overall.

NCAA ELITE 90 AWARD WINNERS

The NCAA Elite 90 Award began in 2010 and is presented to the student-athlete with the highest cumulative grade point average at each of the NCAA's 90 national championships. The award has been bestowed to a UA gymnast each of its first seven years, including Lauren Beers (far left with NCAA Championship Committee Chair Lindy Roberts in 2014), who became the first three-year winner, 2014, 2015 and 2016. Kim Jacob, second from the left with former NCAA Championship Committee Chair Kim Green, earned it in 2013. Rachel Terry, third from the left with former NCAA Championship Committee Chair Paul Plinske in 2011, became the first two-time winner, in 2011 and 2012. Plinske also presented the inaugural award to Kassi Price in 2010 (right).

10TH
ANNIVERSARY

THE 2012 NCAA CHAMPIONS

For the Alabama gymnastics team, the final rotation of the 2012 NCAA Championships was like déjà vu of the best kind. In fact, the Crimson Tide's entire national championship experience in 2012 was reminiscent of 2011 in Cleveland, when Alabama won its fifth national title, though there were certainly twists along the way.

In 2011, Alabama headed into the championship's final rotation only .025 ahead of UCLA. In 2012, Alabama trailed No. 1 seed Florida by the same margin. In 2011, Alabama headed to the floor exercise while defending NCAA champion UCLA took to the balance beam, and Oklahoma sat on a bye with a score good enough to win, if the Crimson Tide and Bruins faltered. In 2012, the Gators went to the floor while defending champion Alabama headed to the beam and UCLA sat on a bye with a score that would have won the previous two championships.

If all that wasn't enough, Alabama and Florida were tied at the midpoint of that final rotation, just as the Bruins and Tide had been in 2011.

From there things were a little different. While Alabama took the lead with its fourth routine in 2011 and never looked back, in 2012 the Gators retook the lead with their fourth routine and stayed in front after their fifth. When the final Gator scored a 9.925, it gave Florida a team score of 197.775, just ahead of the Bruins with everyone in the arena waiting on Alabama's final competitor to see if her score was enough to put the Tide on top once again.

While that final 2012 rotation seemed very familiar to the rest of the Crimson Tide veterans, it was a vastly different experience for Ashley Priess. In 2011, following surgery on both ankles prior to the regular season, she had been on the sidelines as her teammates powered their way to the title. Now Priess was standing on the podium, waiting to salute the judges and compete for a championship.

After senior Gerialen Stack-Eaton's 9.9 in the fifth position, Priess needed a 9.875 to tie the Gators; anything better would win. After watching Kayla Hoffman in the same position the year before, Priess was ready.

"Championships always come down to the last routine and no matter if it was a close meet or not a close meet, I knew I had to do my job and I knew that I was capable of doing it to the best of my ability," Priess said. "The only thing that was going through my mind was to be calm, cool and collected and just do my job."

With every eye inside The Arena at Gwinnett Center on her, the Illinois native did just that. She mounted the beam and proceeded to confidently sweep through a near flawless routine. After nailing her dismount, Priess raced down the podium steps and into the arms of her jubilant teammates.

"All the way through Ashley's routine, we were all grouped together and holding onto each other and talking to her as she was going through her routine," Stack-Eaton said. "We were saying 'Okay, come on, connect!' and 'Chest up!' and 'Stick!' and we just all jumped up in the air when she finished. We didn't know what our fate was, but we just knew that we all did what we possibly could."

When Priess' score came up, the celebration started all over again as a 9.95 flashed, giving the Crimson Tide its second NCAA Championship in a row, this time by just .075. All told, the top five teams finished with scores over 197 and the difference between first and third place was the closest in championship history at only a tenth of a point.

"I said going into the championship that it would be the closest and most competitive championship that I had ever coached in," Patterson said. "I felt like because of the quality of teams, it was going to come down to the very end, and it did."

It certainly was a storybook ending to Priess' comeback season, and it was all that Patterson had hoped for.

"Ashley came back this year and used the hurt and frustration from a year ago to fuel herself and this team," Patterson said moments after the championship.

While the Tide's finish is the stuff of legend, its entire championship run was magical and it both started and ended on the balance beam.

Alabama began Friday night's semifinal session on the balance beam, setting the tone for the rest of the weekend with an extraordinary 49.6 performance. Kim Jacob started the Tide off with a 9.9, a score matched by Kayla Williams and Sarah DeMeo before Stack-Eaton and Priess powered through to the end with matching 9.95s. After its strong start, Alabama went on to total a 197.675, the highest semifinal score of either session, edging out the Gators by .025.

In the Super Six, Alabama picked up where it left off the night before, posting a 49.450 on the floor exercise, anchored by a 9.95 from Stack-Eaton. Things got even better on the vault, where they had five 9.9 or better routines, including a 9.95 from Diandra Milliner and a 9.975 from Stack-Eaton, resulting in a 49.625. A 49.275 on the uneven bars by the Tide and a 49.475 on the balance beam by the Gators, allowed Florida to pull ahead going into the sixth and final rotation setting up an edge-of-the-seat championship finale for the second year in a row.

When all the scores were tallied, Alabama turned in the highest scores of the Super Six on the floor exercise, vault and balance beam. The Tide's 49.6 beam performance during the semifinals matched the highest beam score in history of the national championships.

Individually, Stack-Eaton scored a career-best 39.700 while Priess posted a 39.575, the second-highest score of her career. During their two days of balance beam dominance, Jacob led off both nights with a 9.9 while Williams, who competed on the beam for the first time in the Tide's regular-season finale, scored matching 9.9s of her own while Priess scored 9.95 both nights.

In the relative quiet of the post-championship press conference, Priess told the gathered media what she felt had made the difference that day for Alabama.

"Before the competition, we all had an assignment from the coaches to write down why we love being an Alabama gymnast and pretty much every single person answered that it was about the tradition, and that it was about how we are all family and that we all have each other's backs through good times and bad," Priess said. "I think that came out tonight, the way that we love each other and truly care about each other and I think it brings out the best in us all."

THE 2011 NCAA CHAMPIONS

It was the perfect moment.

The Alabama Crimson Tide – gymnasts, coaches, managers, trainers and all – standing in front of the first-place banner at the national championships, holding their golden trophy high while a rowdy throng of Tide fans cheered them mightily from the stands of the Wolstein Center in Cleveland, Ohio.

That moment was the pinnacle of a journey that began in August when the freshmen reported to campus, joining nine returnees. From that moment, Sarah Patterson and company went about the task of building its latest team, starting down a road that ultimately culminated in the Tide claiming its fifth national championship.

"To have everything come together like it did – to win SECs, regionals and then the national championship – it was a dream come true," Sarah Patterson said. "I don't think I could have asked for a better year with a more rewarding, talented and unified team, or a more perfect ending to an amazing season."

That's not to say that Alabama was perfect on its way to winning its fifth NCAA Championship. There were bumps along the way, but the manner in which the team handled the adversity, coming together as a team – staying positive and looking ahead with confidence – made all the difference.

"The moment that really stands out to me was when Kayla Hoffman fell off beam in the Super Six Team Final and we still had Sarah DeMeo and Geralen Stack-Eaton to compete," Patterson said. "We knew that if we had to count that fall we'd be out of contention. When Kayla came off the beam, she smiled at me, looked at Sarah and with a sense of confidence and purpose, said 'You got this.'"

Hoffman's confidence in her teammates settled DeMeo, a freshman competing at her first national championships, keeping her from getting rattled.

"Kayla relaxed Sarah in a way that no coach could do and I felt 100-percent confident that Sarah and Geralen would make their routines and keep the championship within reach," Patterson said.

As big as DeMeo and Stack-Eaton hitting their routines was, it was Hoffman's reaction to her fall that told Patterson the national championship was within their grasp.

"There was a time when Kayla as a competitor would not have been able to handle her disappointment of falling that way," Patterson said. "I knew we had come great distances and that Kayla's reaction after she made that mistake was a turning point for our team."

For Hoffman, the knowledge that her teammates had her back and would lift her up if she made a mistake grew throughout the season. By the time they reached the championship season, that trust in one another was absolute.

"It's sports. Sports are going to be messy. Sports are never going to be completely perfect," Hoffman said. "It's what you do from that. It's how you recover from a mistake, or a little slip-up, how you recover, how you work together, that is most important."

While Alabama's beam set in the Super Six Team Final is the moment that stands out in Sarah Patterson's mind, it was the next rotation, with Alabama on the floor exercise and defending champion UCLA on the balance beam just a few feet away that is burned in the minds of everyone who saw the epic, down-to-the-wire battle that determined who would be the 2011 national champions.

After being tied with the Bruins at the halfway point of the meet, the Tide went into the final rotation with a slim .025 lead.

"Going into the last event I wanted to help the ladies stay focused on being calm and knowing that if they could do their routines to the best of their ability, we could come out as champions," Patterson said. "I think when you get in the heat of the moment, you don't want anyone to be scared. You want them to be confident and to know that they have this. It was great to be on floor exercise, because it's an event you can go all out on."

The Tide and Bruins opened that deciding rotation with matching scores of 9.85 before UCLA tied the meet with a 9.825 from their second gymnast while Alabama posted a 9.8. The Bruins moved ahead by .025 after their third gymnast scored a 9.875 and the Tide answered with a 9.850. Alabama took the lead back with its next routine before Geralen Stack-Eaton – who would go on to win the NCAA Floor Exercise Championship the next night during individual event finals – extended the Tide's lead with a 9.925, the highest floor score of the day to that point. From there, it was up to Hoffman.

A solid routine and Alabama would complete its championship sweep. Hoffman did more than just hit her routine, she nailed it, posting a 9.95 to push Alabama to a 197.650 and a .275 margin of victory over the Bruins.

"I knew when Kayla landed that last pass that we had won," Patterson said. "There was a sense of sheer excitement and joy in knowing that we'd helped these young women achieve the dream of a lifetime."

So how did a team that lost four All-Americans to graduation and a fifth, Ashley Priess, to ankle surgery in the fall, and had a championship lineup that included 13 routines that weren't in the mix the year before, win all three postseason titles? Perhaps Kayla Hoffman summed it up best in the moments after clinching the championship sweep.

"Sometimes, it's not about talent, it's about heart," she told CBS' Amanda Borden. "Because we're so close – that made the difference."

20TH
ANNIVERSARY

THE 2002 NCAA CHAMPIONS

On the way to winning its fourth NCAA Championship, Alabama was a study in contrast. In the locker room, which the coaches and gymnasts had turned into a beach getaway, complete with sand, umbrellas, floats and beach music, the Tide was laid back and laughing. Out in the arena, moving ever closer to the title, they were cool, calm and collected.

"We have always done our best when we are loose and laughing," Kristin Sterner said. "So the coaches made sure that while we were in the locker room, we didn't get tense or uptight."

On the night of the Super Six, head coach Sarah Patterson even went so far as to pull out the dress she wore to the championships the first time Alabama won at home, in 1991, a red and white striped, strapless sequined number.

"At first they were surprised, and then they started laughing pretty hard," Patterson said. "I think they really enjoyed seeing that, especially since it's pretty far removed from the kinds of things I wear today."

Sarah and David Patterson, coaching at their 20th NCAA Championship, knew that staying loose would give their team an edge in a tight competition. The night of the NCAA Super Six, none of the six teams had a fall. It would be the second-highest scoring night in championship history.

The high-caliber opposition didn't seem to matter though, the higher the other teams turned up the heat, the cooler Alabama gymnasts were.

For two nights in a row, Alabama started the night on the floor exercise, which means that for two nights in a row, Alabama's championship hopes came down to six routines on the balance beam, often the most daunting event of the four, especially when the pressure is on.

On the final night, just to add more drama to the evening, Alabama was on the balance beam during the last rotation while second-place Georgia was on the floor exercise. Not only would Alabama have to hit their routines, but they would also have to hold off Georgia.

Each routine grew in importance as both teams moved through the rotation. Alabama hit routine after routine until Sterner came up in the number five spot. A hit routine from Sterner and the championship belonged to Alabama; a miss would open the door for Georgia.

Sterner put together a rock-solid routine and finished it off by nailing her landing. The title belonged once again to the Tide. But the team didn't know that, not for sure. For Alabama, there was one more routine to go from the Tide's all-everything senior Andreé Pickens.

"I started to cry when Kristin landed her routine," Pickens said. "Jeana Rice came over to me and told me that it was OK, I could do it, I could do it one more time. That whole routine was in slow motion. It wasn't rushed and I wasn't nervous, I was happy and I was confident."

Pickens nailed her routine. And when she threw her arms in the air after her dismount, the Coleman Coliseum crowd knew what had happened. They knew the Alabama team had again, as the Tide fight song says, "Writ her name in crimson flame ..." and brought a fourth national title to Tuscaloosa. They roared their approval, stomping, clapping and screaming, much like the pandemonium that had broken out on the floor amongst the Tide athletes, coaches and staff.

It had been a remarkable run. Since counting a fall on the final event of the SEC Championships, Alabama had gone a perfect 72 for 72 during their championship march. Pickens, senior Natalie Barrington, Sterner, sophomore Jeana Rice and freshmen Alexis Brion and Shannon Hrozek earned 14 All-America honors between them, the most of any team at the championship. On Saturday, an exhausted Pickens, who competed 12 routines in three days, had enough energy left to win the NCAA uneven bars title to go with the American Award, which denotes the nation's top senior, that she'd picked up earlier in the day.

There would be more moments of celebration in the weeks and months that followed. Alabama received their championship rings in front of 83,000-plus fans at the halftime of the Alabama-Southern Mississippi football game. They were also honored at the Homecoming parade and the pep rally/bonfire the night before.

But perhaps the best moment came immediately after the team received the trophy from Alabama Director of Athletics Mal Moore, when everyone was laughing and hugging. It was Pickens - who had come back from a torn Achilles that ended her junior season just days before the 2001 NCAA Championship - who put it best.

Standing in the middle of her teammates, tightly clutching the Tide's golden prize to her chest, Pickens said, "This is why I came back. This is why I worked so hard for so many months to get back - to be able to share this moment, this feeling with these girls and this crowd."

"This," she said again, sweeping her eyes over the mob scene in Coleman Coliseum, "is what we wanted."

THE 1996 NCAA CHAMPIONS

For the Alabama gymnastics team, two long years of planning, training and dedication had come down to the next 24 hours. Their motto for the season had been "Enjoy the Journey," and they had, with great success. Now, in April 1996, Alabama was on the verge of competing for the national championship on its home floor. Sarah and David Patterson gathered their team and told them, "We've enjoyed the journey, now it's time to enjoy our destination."

Alabama started its drive for its third NCAA Championship on the same two events where it had counted falls on the first night of team competition. On the uneven bars, sophomore Danielle McAdams produced a 9.875, a mark echoed by freshman Gwen Spidle who was followed by junior Meredith Willard's 9.9. In the fourth position senior Kim Kelly suffered a fall, putting the Tide's final two performers in clutch positions. Junior Stephanie Woods responded with a 9.95. Senior Marna Neubauer came up in the final position. Battling a sore shoulder for the latter half of the season, she came up big for the Tide, swinging to a 9.875. Alabama produced a 49.475, the second-best total in school history.

Alabama then moved to the balance beam. Willard took to the beam in her customary first spot and for the first time all season, on any event, she fell. Sarah Patterson gathered the team together and told them, "Meredith has been our rock all season long. Now we'll be there for her."

Sophomore Shay Murphy was next up and responded with a solid 9.8. Senior Kim Bonaventura posted a 9.825 and Kelly scored 9.9. McAdams came up in the fifth position. Midway through her routine, she wobbled on a landing, staying on the beam seemingly through sheer force of will. McAdams steadied herself and finished the routine to thunderous applause and a 9.725 score. Woods finished things off for the Tide with a 9.9. The Tide posted a 49.150.

Despite a strong first half, Alabama still trailed UCLA, a squad making a push for the top, by .075 with two rotations left.

The Tide moved to the floor exercise, and it was there that Alabama and the crowd of 10,000-plus fans caught fire. Neubauer scored a 9.85, followed by Booth's 9.875.

Then Kelly brought out her floor routine, the one she had learned during the season, and introduced only four meets before. To the strains of "Yea Alabama" and "Sweet Home Alabama," the Pennsylvania native captured her audience and the judges, producing a perfect 10.0 performance and raising the decibel level in Coleman Coliseum to near-deafening heights.

Willard carried the banner of enthusiasm throughout her performance, producing a 9.95. McAdams came up in the final spot and capped Alabama's rotation with a career-high 9.95.

When the counting was done, Alabama had produced an NCAA floor exercise record 49.625.

The Bruins were tenacious though, matching the Tide's record floor effort with an NCAA record of their own on the balance beam (49.50). Going into the last rotation, perennial favorites Georgia and Utah were already out of the championship picture – barring a complete meltdown by both the Crimson Tide and the Bruins. It came down to two teams and one last rotation.

Alabama headed to the vault, just .05 ahead of floor exercise bound UCLA.

What happened during the last rotation is the stuff of legend. Alabama ran off a blistering set of vaults in which the Tide scored nothing lower than a 9.9 and posted two perfect, golden 10.0s.

Booth got Alabama off to a 9.925 start. Bonaventura and Neubauer chimed in with back-to-back 9.9 scores. McAdams came up in the fourth spot and put the ultimate exclamation point on what had already been a career night. She flew down the runway, hit the springboard, then the vault, landed on the mat and did not move. Feet planted, arms thrown back and head held high, McAdams scored her first perfect 10.0 and the fans roared, clapped and screamed their approval. Kelly responded with a 10.0 of her own, the sixth perfect vault of her career and one that raised the roof right off the coliseum. Willard finished the Tide's evening with a 9.95.

The Tide's vault total, 49.775, set yet another NCAA record. UCLA mustered a 49.275 on the floor. The title was Alabama's.

Alabama totaled a 198.025, setting an NCAA 'Super Six' record, to win its third NCAA title and second in front of the home crowd. UCLA was second with a 197.475, a score that would have won all but one other NCAA Championship. Utah and Georgia tied for third with a 196.775. Oregon State was fifth with a 196.525, while Michigan finished sixth with a 196.375. It marked the first time in NCAA history that all six members of the "Super Six" scored 196 or better.

Willard started the Tide's winning ways on the first night of competition, earning Alabama's fourth NCAA All-Around title.

The Tide rolled to two more titles during Saturday night's individual competition. Woods posted a 9.975 to win the NCAA Uneven Bars title. And Kelly, in the last meet of her storied career, inked the perfect final chapter. She posted yet another perfect 10.0 floor routine to win that title.

THE 1991 NCAA CHAMPIONS

In 1991, Sarah Patterson finally had the championships right where she wanted them – in Coleman Coliseum.

Alabama had already gained national prominence, winning its first title in 1988. In 1990, the team brought home its second Southeastern Conference title and placed second to Utah at the national championships. The 1991 team boasted a contingent that included five All-Americans and the 1990 NCAA all-around champion. If the gymnasts did their jobs, there was no doubt in Patterson's mind they would compete in front of the home crowd that final Friday of competition.

"I remember being told that you build a crowd by winning a national championship, but you could also do it by hosting a championship," Patterson said.

The first step toward building the fan base was accomplished with the 1988 NCAA title, which spurred increased interest in the program.

The Tide was young in 1991, with six underclassmen, including four freshmen. The two seniors, Kim Masters and Tina Rinker, sought to weave the 11 girls together to form a squad reminiscent of the 1988 championship they were members of as freshmen.

"I remember feeling that the team had so much talent that we should be able to win the national championship if we could become unified and get into the flow," Rinker reminisced.

Alabama had the opportunity to shine at home, but the team was not fulfilling expectations in the preseason.

"I can remember in December thinking that we were hosting the championships and that we might not even be there," Patterson said.

Preseason practices were not characteristic of a team that should be in contention for a gold, and Patterson predicted a nightmarish outcome if the team did not shape up.

"One day, Sarah sat us down and we got a good lecture," Kara Stilp recalled. "I will never forget it. She told us that we were going to be really embarrassed when we hosted nationals, and we would not be competing in it. We agreed that we all needed to get in gear."

That speech proved to be a turning point for the gymnasts. Once its first competition rolled around, the Tide was ready to go. If preseason was tough, the competition season was just as demanding.

The Tide defeated Auburn in the 1991 season opener even though they had to count three falls on balance beam, an event on which the program had built its reputation. In its home opener against Penn State, the team tumbled to three more falls from the 4-inch wide apparatus. Fortunately, they still came away with a win.

To Patterson, these mistakes were unacceptable for a championship-caliber team. Beam intra-squads came frequently, and the team's self-assurance rose. The team members began to refer to themselves as the "Beam Team."

"We had so much confidence because Sarah made us do so many intra-squads," Sheryl Dundas said. "We could do routines in our sleep."

The Tide traveled to Lexington, Ky., for the Southeastern Conference Championships. Forced to count two falls on the final event, vault, the SEC title slipped from Alabama's hands by .05. The disappointment and frustration made the Tide even more determined to earn the national crown.

"Good teams aren't going to let defeats defeat them overall," Katherine Kelleher told reporters at the time. "They use it to their advantage. That's what we are going to do."

"I've always said that in this conference, you can be third at the conference championship and win the national championship," Patterson explained. "1991 was definitely indicative of that scenario."

At the regional championships at Auburn, the Tide turned in one of its best performances of the season and entered the NAAs as the No. 1 seed.

The Tide drew a favorable rotation at the NCAA Championships, starting on the vault, finishing on the floor exercise. After charging through the first two events, the "Beam Team" was put to its final test, hitting all six routines, passing the exam with flying colors. The Tide was the only team without a fall on the balance beam at the NCAA Championships.

Before the team rotated to floor, Patterson offered only one piece of advice to her charges.

"I just told the kids to land on their feet and stay in bounds," Patterson said.

The floor music reverberated through the Coliseum and each tumbling pass was met with louder and louder cheers and at the end of six routines the Crimson Tide emerged victorious.

"Winning one championship was great, but there was nothing like winning at home," Patterson said. "I felt like winning a second championship validated our program at that point. It wasn't just a one-time thing. Yes, we can have this philosophy of having the best students and athletes and well-rounded individuals and still win a championship."

The team also taught Patterson a thing or two about the seven-month journey to the national championship competition, as well as the expectations that come with the quest.

"It doesn't matter where you start in December," Patterson said. "It only matters where you end in April. Sometimes, when it looks like you have your hardest road to go in preseason, you need to stay focused on the outcome and take it one step at a time. More than anything, I learned from this team to not look too far down that road."

THE 1988 NCAA CHAMPIONS

Sarah and David Patterson were celebrating their 10th anniversary of coaching the Crimson Tide in 1988. Their success had been nothing short of amazing, with five consecutive top-6 finishes including a high of third in 1986. Alabama was a strong team, with a solid foundation built on its coaches and the type of athletes they chose to bring into the program.

The questions began brewing in the Pattersons' minds though. Could their philosophy of developing the whole person produce championships? Would they be able to do things the way they wanted and still climb the final rung and produce a championship? The questions were answered emphatically in 1988.

Alabama started the year 10-strong. It was a young squad, with two seniors, one junior, four sophomores and three freshmen. The Pattersons added to the Tide's arsenal in January, when Kim Masters joined the Tide. Masters had planned to delay college for a year to train for the Seoul Olympics. After finishing ninth at the USA Gymnastics Championships the previous summer, her aspirations for the Olympic rings seemed within her grasp. Striving for that goal lost its appeal though and after much thought, Masters opted for college and the Tide. With its roster set, the season began.

Alabama reeled off a trio of wins to get things going. Then something strange happened – Alabama tied LSU. With fractions of points being added up over the course of 24 individual performances, ties are rare in collegiate gymnastics. Then, at the next meet, Alabama did it again; tying Georgia at the UA-hosted Red and White Classic and beating Utah.

In any other season, that would have been what the year would be known by, the year of two ties. This squad, though, was destined for far greater things.

Alabama set the tone for the postseason by winning its first Southeastern Conference Championship with a 190.15. It was only the second time in school history that the Tide had scored in the 190s. The Tide beat second-place Georgia by .95.

The regionals were next for the Tide and a good performance would be necessary to advance to the NCAA Championships. Instead of a good performance, Alabama produced a school and NCAA-best mark of 191.75. The Tide posted the meet's top score on all four events both individually and as a team. Masters won the all-around followed by Marie Robbins in second and Tina Rinker in fourth.

"I didn't think it was going to be possible to exceed what we did at the Southeastern Conference Championship, but they certainly did," Sarah Patterson said. "They came back and did a better job."

Nationals were in Salt Lake City, Utah, home of five-time NCAA champion Utah, the No. 2 seed. Alabama would also face defending NCAA champs Georgia, No. 3 seed LSU and No. 4 seed Florida. Both the competition and the arena were familiar, being the No. 1 seed was not.

"I don't think there's extra pressure on us being the No. 1 seed," Sarah Patterson said prior to NAAs. "We just achieved so many things – winning the SEC, the record in the regionals and the No. 1 seed – that we're too proud of what we've already accomplished to feel pressure."

If Alabama disagreed with their coach, it did not show. Those watching from the stands and those on press row observed a Crimson Tide team that was calm and loose going into the championships, having fun, being playful and displaying an indomitable team spirit.

Alabama scored an NCAA Championship record on the way to its first national championship, shattering the mark previously held by Utah (188.35) with a 190.05. The Tide's highest all-around finish was ninth-place, highlighting the team effort it took to win the championship.

Consistency, along with confidence and enthusiasm were the keys for the Crimson Tide. The Pattersons' crew hit 23 of 24 routines, including a six-for-six balance beam rotation.

"It was the beam – that's where we won it," Sarah Patterson said. "That was our best beam score of the year."

And if the beam was the event that led Alabama to the title, its seniors were the class pointing the way.

"This national championship is for our two seniors – Alli Beldon and Kathy Bilodeau," Sarah Patterson said after the meet. "They hit all three events tonight. They were models for us all year. We just learned from their consistency, which has been our forte all season."

Four Alabama gymnasts earned seven All-America honors. Sarah Patterson was named NCAA Coach of the Year, but most importantly, Alabama had its first NCAA Championship.

"It's so unbelievable," Robbins said. "We had so much fun. That's when we are at our best."

Sophomore Cheri Way noted the seeds were sown long before the trip to Utah.

"I realized we could win the national title after one long and tiresome Tuesday practice when we decided to go out and do it for us," Way said. "When I realized we had won . . . my whole body went numb."

The good times were far from over.

"The best part about winning the championship was coming back home to Alabama," Ali Blumberg said, a sentiment echoed by all her teammates at one point or another during that magical year.

On April 30, 1988, the state of Alabama declared "Alabama Gymnasts Day." There was a parade and a ceremony at the base of Denny Chimes. The next fall, the gymnasts received their championship rings at halftime of the Vanderbilt football game.

ALABAMA'S INDIVIDUAL NCAA CHAMPIONS

The Alabama gymnastics program has always been focused on the team aspect of the sport. It is one of the reasons that the Crimson Tide has enjoyed such tremendous success over the years, including six NCAA Championships, 10 Southeastern Conference titles and an NCAA-record 32 regional titles. While team always comes first for Alabama, there have been numerous individual accomplishments over the years including an amazing 29 individual NCAA Championships by 18 different gymnasts. Alabama has also won at least three individual NCAA titles in each of the last four decades, with four in the 1980s, eight in the 1990s, nine in the 2000s and six through the 2010.

The Crimson Tide won two in 2021, with Luisa Blanco taking top honors on the balance beam and Lexi Graber adding the floor exercise title to an already stacked resume, getting the 2020s off to a strong start.

Penney Hauschild won Alabama's first individual NCAA titles when she brought home the all-around and uneven bars title in 1985. She upped her career total to four when she repeated as all-around champion and added a floor exercise title as a senior in 1986. Dee Foster won the Tide's third all-around title as a freshman in 1990. Foster's title was the first of four in a row to start the 1990s, followed by Gina Basile's 1991 balance beam championship and back-to-back balance beam titles from current head coach Dana Duckworth – then Dana Dobransky – in 1992 and 1993. Duckworth became the first Tide gymnast to repeat as a champion on an apparatus, winning her second beam title with a perfect 10.

Alabama not only won the team title in 1996, but added a trio of individual titles by three different women. Meredith Willard won Alabama's fourth all-around championship while Stephanie Woods won the uneven bars and Kim Kelly took top honors on the floor exercise with a perfect 10. Andréé Pickens closed out the decade of the '90s by winning the balance beam title as a freshman in 1999.

Pickens would also win Alabama's first national title of the '00s by winning the 2002 uneven bars championship after leading the Tide to the team championship that same year. Ashley Miles went on a tear in the mid-00s, becoming the second Alabama gymnast to win four titles in a career, taking first on the vault in 2003, 2004 and 2006 and adding the floor exercise championship in 2004. When she won her third vault title in 2006, she became the first NCAA gymnast in 20 years to win a trio of vault titles in a career. Jeana Rice won Alabama's fifth all-around title in 2004. Rice's 2004 title, combined with Miles vault and floor exercise championships that same year, gave Alabama three individual titles in the same year for the second time.

Terin Humphrey won two uneven bars titles, the first as a freshman in 2005 and the second in 2007, the same year Morgan Dennis won the floor exercise championship as a rookie.

Geralen Stack-Eaton led Alabama to back-to-back NCAA team titles in 2011 and 2012 and also won back-to-back individual titles, taking the floor exercise title in 2011 and the balance beam in 2012. Coincidentally Stack-Eaton's titles came on the same events – floor exercise in 2011 and balance beam in 2012 – on which Alabama clinched the NCAA team titles.

In 2013, Diandra Milliner won the vault, marking the Tide's fourth vault title.

Kim Jacob won the Tide's latest NCAA all-around championship in 2014, earning UA's sixth all-around and 25th individual NCAA title overall.

In 2016, Katie Bailey soared to Alabama's fifth vault title and first NCAA title under Duckworth as Alabama's head coach. She followed that title with an uneven bars championship in 2017.

ALABAMA'S ALL-AMERICANS

The 1990 NCAA All-Around Champion and the first gymnast to post four top-three NCAA all-around finishes, Dee Foster also set the record for First Team Championship All-America honors during her 1990-93 career at 17.

There are two All-America teams in collegiate gymnastics, regular season (RS) and championship season (CS). Regular-season honors came about in 2013 and are based on final regular-season regional qualifying score (RQS) rankings with the top-four spots and ties earning first team and Nos. 5-8 receiving second-team (ST) recognition. Championship-season honors have gone through a few changes over the years. Since 1999, the top-four finishers (plus ties) from each of the NCAA Championships' two semifinal sessions of team competition earn All-America first-team honors. Finishers in the Nos. 5-8 spots (including ties) in each semifinal earn Second Team All-America honors. From 1993-98, the top-eight individuals in NCAA team competition (results from both sessions combined) earned First Team All-America honors; the next eight earned Second Team All-America honors. Prior to 1993, only the top-eight finishers from the NCAA event finals earned All-America honors.

ALABAMA AT THE NCAA REGIONAL CHAMPIONSHIPS

The 2018 Alabama squad won the Crimson Tide's NCAA-best 32nd regional title.

Alabama has dominated the NCAA Regional Championships for nearly 40 years, finishing first or second every year since the championships' inception in 1982 through the 2018 season, including an NCAA-best 32 regional titles over that span. Alabama hosted and finished second at the 2021 NCAA Tuscaloosa Regional Championships, paced by perfect 10.0s from Luisa Blanco (balance beam) and Makarri Doggette (uneven bars). Blanco also won the all-around in 2021, scoring a 39.800, the highest total of any regional.

Starting with the 2019 season, for the first time since 1999, the regional system became significantly different. The NCAA Championships field remains at 36 teams determined by their regional qualifying score (RQS), but those teams now advance to four regional sites instead of six, and regional competition now spans three days as opposed to one in the previous format. The four regionals, consisting of 9 teams, are conducted at predetermined campus sites. Teams 1-16 are seeded by the NCAA Women's Gymnastics Committee and the remaining teams are placed geographically. The first round consists of two lowest ranked teams by RQS, the second round consists of two, four-team sessions (including the winner of the first round). The regional final consists of four teams. The top two teams from each of the four regional finals advance to the national championships.

Alabama gymnasts have won 160 individual regional titles over the past 30 years. Luisa Blanco was voted the NCAA Region 1 Gymnast of the Year in 2021, while GERALD Stack-Eaton was voted the NCAA Central Region Gymnast of the Year in 2012. Kayla Hoffman earned the honor in 2011 while Ashley Miles won it in 2006 and Andréé Pickens earned the same award four years running, from 1999 to 2002 before giving way to Jeana Rice in 2003. Miles set the Alabama career record for regional titles in 2006 after winning a pair of titles to push her all-time mark to 10. She is also the first Tide gymnast to win the same regional event all four years of her career, sweeping both the vault and floor exercise from 2003 to 2006.

On her way to the Tide regional title record, Miles passed Pickens and Dee Foster, who are tied with nine each. Hoffman (2011), Miles (2005) and Foster (1993) are tied for the most titles in a single season at four.

Dana Duckworth was voted the NCAA Region 1 Head Coach of the Year in 2020 and 2021, while Ryan Roberts and Bill Lorenz were named the Region 1 Assistant Coaches of the Year in 2020 and 2021. In 1992 and 1993, David Patterson was named NCAA Central Region Assistant Coach of the Year. In 2000 and 2002, former Crimson Tide Senior Woman Administrator and gymnast Marie Robbins was named NCAA Central Region Administrator of the Year, while director of operations Robin Kelley was voted the NCAA Region 1 Administrator of the Year in 2020.

The Tide earned one Southeast Regional title in 1983 before making the jump to the Central Region and winning 13 there. In 1999, the regional structure changed, going to six regions. Alabama won the inaugural Region 6 title in 1999 and a Region 4 title in 2000. Beginning with the 2001 season, the names of the regions went back to directional designations, with Alabama was once again competing out of the Central Region. Starting in 2009, the regional championships were designated by the host city, which means Alabama competed in and won the NCAA Tuscaloosa Regional in 2018.

The Tide has put together two streaks of 10-or-more regional titles in a row, earning 12-consecutive championships from 2005-16 and 10 championships between 1987-96.

Ashley Miles won 10 individual NCAA regional titles.

ALABAMA AND THE SOUTHEASTERN CONFERENCE

Kayla Hoffman, pictured above with Commissioner Mike Slive, earned almost every accolade the Southeastern Conference has to offer in 2011, including the league's top honor when she was named the SEC Female Athlete of the Year. She was also the first in league history to win SEC Gymnast of the Year and SEC Gymnastics Scholar-Athlete of the Year honors in the same season. Hoffman received an SEC Postgraduate Scholarship and was a finalist for the H. Boyd McWhorter SEC Scholar-Athlete of the Year.

If there was any question that the Southeastern Conference is the most dominant gymnastics conference in the nation, it was laid to rest in 2009 when five of the teams that advanced to the NCAA Super Six Team Final were from the SEC, including the top-two finishers, Georgia and Alabama. In fact, since the first NCAA Championship in 1982, the SEC has had at least one team in the top 10 and since 1983, the conference has placed at least one team in the top five and at least two teams in the top 10. Alabama has been the league's top finisher at the NCAA Championships 13 times.

In 1998 the national top three all hailed from the SEC, with Georgia, Florida and Alabama taking first, second and third, respectively. The SEC put a conference-high five teams in the national top 10 in 1993, 2003, 2008, 2009, 2015, 2016 and 2018. An SEC school has stood atop the podium as national champion 19 times since 1987, with Alabama winning six titles, including back-to-back in 2011 and 2012.

SEC athletes have taken home the NCAA all-around title 18 times. Alabama athletes have been especially productive in that area, with five Crimson Tide athletes producing six all-around titles. From 1989-98, the conference claimed nine of the 10 all-around crowns, including six straight from 1993-98.

Of the 14 conference schools, Alabama, Arkansas, Auburn, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, LSU and Missouri sponsor gymnastics.

ALABAMA IN THE SEC

In the 39-year history of the Southeastern Conference Gymnastics Championships (the 2020 championship was canceled due Covid-19), Alabama is the only program to never finish outside the top four. After finishing 1st in 2019, the Crimson Tide is also the only team to finish in the top-three each of the last 22 SEC Championships, with Florida coming in second over that span with 19, Georgia with 14 and LSU with 11. Alabama has won 10 SEC Championships, the first coming in 1988 and the most recent in 2021, as well as posting 28 top-two finishes.

Individually, Alabama has tallied 75 conference crowns, including an incredible 58 titles since 2000. In 2021 Alabama won seven SEC titles, with Luisa Blanco leading the way with four, including he all-around.

Kayla Hoffman was named the 2011 SEC Female Athlete of the Year, an award that spans all sports offered by the league, marking the fifth time an Alabama gymnast has earned that title. Tide gymnasts alone have earned more SEC Female Athlete of the Year honors than all but one other school.

The league's top scholar-athlete has come from the Tide three times, with Kristin Sterner (2003), Meredith Willard (1997) and Julie Estin (1987) earning the H. Boyd McWhorter Postgraduate Scholarship.

The SEC Gymnast of the Year has hailed from Alabama seven times, including Blanco in 2021, while the Freshman Gymnast of the Year has worn Alabama's crimson and white three times, while the SEC Gymnastics Scholar-Athlete of the Year has hailed from Alabama a league-best seven times, including Shea Mahoney in 2020.

The Tide has earned SEC Academic Honor Roll honors 392 times, nearly 100 better than second place including a conference-record 18 in 2016 and 2017.

ALABAMA'S SEC HONORS

Shea Mahoney was voted the SEC Gymnastics Scholar-Athlete of the Year in 2020, giving Alabama its league-best seventh honor since the award's inception in 2003. Lauren Beers took home the honor in 2016 followed by Kim Jacob, who earned the honor in 2012, 2013 and 2014 giving the Crimson Tide five in six years after Kayla Hoffman earned the same accolade in 2011. Michelle Reeser earned UA's first honor in 2005.

ALABAMA'S SEC TEAM CHAMPIONSHIPS

2021 SEC CHAMPIONS

Before the 2021 season got underway, Alabama seniors Alonza Klopfer and Lexi Graber came up with a theme for their year – "Women on Fire." At the 2021 SEC Championships in Huntsville, Ala., the Crimson Tide was just that, continuing the Crimson Tide's legacy as a "Championship School" winning its 10th Southeastern Conference Gymnastics Championship with a season-best 197.875. Ranked eighth nationally coming into the championships, the Crimson Tide held off the No. 4 LSU Tigers, who took second, and downed the No. 1 Florida Gators, who finished third.

On fire through the first three rotations, and with the meet in the balance, Alabama finished strong with a 49.450 on the balance beam to hold off second-place LSU, who came on strong on their last event, the vault. In addition to being the Crimson Tide's 10th overall SEC title, it is the second under head coach Dana Duckworth. Alabama was led by sophomore Luisa Blanco, who won the all-around with a 39.800, and Lexi Graber, who posted a 39.575 to take third in the all-around. Blanco also won a share of the vault, uneven bars, and balance beam. She also shared the bars title with Shania Adams and Makarri Doggette and the beam title with Graber.

2015 SEC CHAMPIONS

In 2015, for the first time in nearly 40 years, the Alabama gymnastics team marched into the Southeastern Conference Championships with a new head coach. By the time the meet was done, Dana Duckworth and her first Crimson Tide team as head coach had produced a few more firsts.

When the Crimson Tide won the 2015 title with a 197.525, it was Alabama's first back-to-back SEC titles in program history. Duckworth also became the first coach in SEC gymnastics history to win the league championship in her inaugural season as a head coach. Kaitlyn Clark won her second individual SEC title and first vault championship after scoring a 9.95. Clark, Lauren Beers, Carley Sims and Keely McNeer each earned All-SEC honors in front of a very vocal Crimson Tide crowd inside The Arena at Gwinnett Place.

2014 SEC CHAMPIONS

Surrounded by a vocal pro-Alabama crowd the Crimson Tide fed off the energy of the Birmingham, Ala. crowd to win its eighth Southeastern Conference Championship, and third in six years, in 2014. Loud throughout the night, Alabama fans erupted when junior Kaitlyn Clark – the Crimson Tide's last competitor – nailed her landing on the uneven bars, scoring a career-best 9.975 to win the event and clinch the title for Alabama. Excited about their performance, which culminated with a towering 197.875, no matter the outcome, the Tide had to wait until Florida finished its final routines on the floor exercise to know for sure if they'd won the title.

When the Gators closed their last routine, it was evident that the Tide had won and pandemonium ensued both on the floor of the arena, where the Tide celebrated an amazing performance, and in the stands where Alabama's faithful let loose an endless string of "Roll Tide" cheers.

In addition to Clark on the uneven bars, Diandra Milliner won both the vault and floor exercise. Milliner and Clark along with Kim Jacob and freshman Aja Sims earned All-SEC honors. Sims also earned SEC All-Freshman honors along with Katie Bailey and Amanda Jetter. With three rookies earning All-Freshman, Alabama made up nearly half of the seven-member team.

2011 SEC CHAMPIONS

The Crimson Tide started off the 2011 SEC Championships with a solid score on the uneven bars and proceeded to improve every rotation after that, finishing off with the best score of the night by any team on any event, when it scored a 49.5 on the vault. The Tide was on a bye for the last rotation, waiting in its "Bama Bubble" to see if anyone could catch them. In the end, second-place Florida came up a quarter of a point short and the Tide won title No. 7 with a 197.225.

Senior Kayla Hoffman won the vault with a 9.95 while junior Geralen Stack-Eaton won the balance beam and floor exercise with matching scores of 9.925. Hoffman and Stack-Eaton both earned first team All-SEC honors, while sophomores Marissa Gutierrez and Ashley Sledge earned second-team honors. Sarah DeMeo, Kim Jacob and Diandra Milliner all earned Second Team All-SEC and SEC All-Freshman honors.

2009 SEC CHAMPIONS

Alabama rolled to its sixth SEC title with a complete team performance that saw everyone adding to the Crimson Tide's win. After finishing in second place by .025 in 2008, Alabama came back strong in 2009, outscoring second place Georgia by .375, 197.300-196.925. Junior Morgan Dennis led the way with wins on the vault and floor exercise while junior Ricki Lebegern, sophomore Kayla Hoffman and freshman Ashley Priess all earned second team All-SEC honors. Priess and Geralen Stack-Eaton also earned SEC All-Freshman honors.

2003 SEC CHAMPIONS

It was a battle from the word go. But in the end, the youngest team Alabama had ever put on the floor won the program's fifth SEC team title, upending second-place Georgia 197.575-197.525. Junior Jeana Rice was named SEC Gymnast of the Year after winning three events, including the all-around. Freshman Ashley Miles won the floor exercise with a 9.975 to clinch the Tide's victory. Sophomore Michelle Reeser and freshman Larissa Stewart earned second team All-SEC on the balance beam and uneven bars, respectively.

2000 SEC CHAMPIONS

Sarah Patterson and company couldn't have been much looser coming into the championships. Warm-ups in Florida's O'Connell Center were filled with laughter. Time in the locker room was spent playing games and singing along with music the Tide had brought along. Along with the laughter and the smiles, there was a quiet confidence.

By the time Alabama finished their last vault, they knew they had won the meet over LSU and Georgia, which tied for second, by .375. In addition to winning the all-around, vault and uneven bars, André Pickens earned All-SEC honors and was named SEC Gymnast of the Year. Her three SEC titles in one season matched Dee Foster's 1991 effort for best in Tide history.

1995 SEC CHAMPIONS

Alabama was in Gainesville, Fla., for the SEC Championships and going into its last rotation, the vault, Alabama was fourth. The Crimson Tide responded with the highest vault total in NCAA history, counting nothing less than a 9.9. Freshman Merritt Booth and senior Chasity Junkin both posted career-best marks of 9.975. Junior Kim Kelly stuck a perfect 10.0 to finish the series. Now the Tide had to wait and see if their best had been good enough. Even the coaches didn't know until the scores were announced. Auburn was sixth, Kentucky fifth, Florida fourth, Georgia third, at this point a sigh of relief went up from the Crimson Tide contingent – they were at least second. LSU was second, and the Alabama contingent roared with the pleasure of winning by .05.

1990 SEC CHAMPIONS

Alabama started the decade of the 1990s off with a bang. Sarah and David Patterson and company won the 1990 SEC Championship in Athens, Ga. Senior Marie Robbins led the Tide, winning the all-around. It marked a triumphant return from an ankle injury that had cut short her 1989 season. And if Florida was Alabama's main rival in the early- to mid-1980s, Georgia stepped into that position in the late 1980s through the next two decades, which made the win in Athens all the sweeter.

1988 SEC CHAMPIONS

At the 1988 SEC Championships, the Crimson Tide faced Georgia, LSU and Florida, all three ranked in the top-10 nationally. All three, along with the Tide, would be in the hunt for the NCAA title come April.

The championships were in Tuscaloosa, where they had been in 1985, the year current Alabama senior captains Alli Beldon and Kathy Bilodeau had been freshmen.

Alabama didn't claim a single individual title but came away with its first conference crown, and an SEC Championship record as well. UA's 190.15 marked only the second time in school history that it had scored in the 190s. The Tide outpointed second-place Georgia by .95.

ALABAMA'S SEC ACADEMIC HONOR ROLL

While it is evident that Alabama gymnastics is one of the nation's best teams in the gym, it is absolutely dominant when it comes to the classroom. The best barometer of such success on a conference level is the SEC Academic Honor Roll, instituted in 1984, and Alabama gymnasts have earned a league-best 392 honors, nearly 100 better than any other program in the nation. The Crimson Tide has averaged more than 10 honors a year since 2000, including a program-best 18 in 2016 and 2017. From 1984-2001 the honor roll was open to all gymnasts in the sophomore class or better in academic standing. Starting in 2002, the awards were determined by the academic year (fall and spring semester) or cumulative GPA, making freshmen eligible.

ADDING UP CRIMSON TIDE SUCCESS

- 1 Alabama has finished No. 1 in the nation six times. The first time came in 1988 and the most recent in 2012. The Crimson Tide is one of only seven programs in collegiate gymnastics history to win an NCAA title and one of just four to win more than three.
- 2 Alabama has finished in the top-2 nationally at total of 13 times since first breaking into the top-10 in 1983.
- 3 Three Crimson Tide gymnasts have been named the H. Boyd McWhorter SEC Scholar-Athlete of the Year, an award that spans all sports and all 14 league schools.
- 4 In the history of the Southeastern Conference, Alabama's Sarah and David Patterson are the only coaches in any sport to win NCAA Championships in four different decades ('80s – 1988; '90s – 1991 and 1996; '00s – 2002; '10s – 2011 and 2012).
- 5 Five Crimson Tide gymnasts have earned the prestigious NCAA Top 10 Award, which honors the nation's top 10 senior student-athletes regardless of gender or NCAA Division.
- 5 Five Crimson Tide gymnasts have been named Southeastern Conference Female Athlete of the Year, an award that spans all sports and all schools, including Kayla Hoffman in 2011.
- 6 Six times an Alabama gymnast has been named the SEC Gymnast of the Year, including Kayla Hoffman in 2011.
- 7 Shea Mahoney earned Alabama's SEC-best seventh Southeastern Conference Gymnastics Scholar-Athlete of the Year accolade in 2020.
- 7 Alabama gymnastics earned the first seven NCAA Elite 90 Awards, given annually to the student-athlete with the highest grade point average at the NCAA Championships for each sport, including three in a row by Lauren Beers. Alabama is the only program in any sport to have that many and to have the honors be consecutive and Beers is the first gymnast to win three in a row.
- 8 Alabama has won the Honda Award for Gymnastics, which recognizes the national gymnast of the year, eight times, including Kim Jacob in 2014.
- 10 Alabama has won 10 Southeastern Conference team titles since its first in 1988, including back-to-back titles in 2014 and 2015 and the 2021 championship.
- 11 Alabama has sold out Coleman Coliseum to the tune of 15,000-plus fans 11 times since 1997, including the 2014 meet against Arkansas.
- 17 Dee Foster's 17 First Team All-America honors stands as the NCAA career record.
- 21 Alabama gymnasts have earned 21 NCAA Postgraduate Scholarships over the years, a total that leads the nation by a healthy margin.
- 23 Since its inception in 1993, Alabama has advanced to the NCAA Super Six Team Finals 23 times, more than any other team in the history of the format.
- 23 Alabama gymnasts have earned CoSIDA Academic All-America honors 23 times since Julie Estin earned the Crimson Tide's first honor 1986.
- 29 Individual national titles are hard to come by, but the Crimson Tide has won 29 individual NCAA championships, including Luisa Blanco and Lexi Graber, who took home the balance beam and floor exercise titles, respectively, in 2021.
- 32 The Crimson Tide has won an NCAA-best 32 regional titles, including the 2018 Tuscaloosa Regional Championship.
- 40 Since women's gymnastics became an NCAA sport in 1982, Alabama is one of just two schools in collegiate gymnastics history to finish in the top-12 nationally every year, for an active streak of 40 in a row.
- 315 Alabama gymnasts have earned Scholastic All-America honors 315 times since the award's inception in 1991, including a school-record 19 in 2017.
- 371 Every year Alabama features some of the nation's top gymnasts, which is why, every year, Alabama adds to its All-America count. Since 1982, the Crimson Tide has seen 78 gymnasts rack up 371 honors.
- 392 Since the award began in 1984, Alabama gymnasts have earned SEC Academic Honor Roll recognition 392 times, nearly 100 better than the next closest gymnastics program, including an SEC-record 18 in 2016 and 2017.
